

Interest Hike Aids Economy, Banker Claims

WASHINGTON (AP) — The bank that started the climb in prime interest rates to a historic high told Congress today its action reduced rather than increased dangers to the economy.

Alfred Brittain III, president of Bankers Trust Co. of New York, testified that "we have prevented our lending capacity from being overrun and have made sure that funds will remain available for the essential needs, above all, of our small businesses and other customers who cannot finance themselves in the securities market."

Bankers Trust was the first to announce an increase June 9 from 7½ to 8½ per cent in the prime rate. Banks across the country quickly followed.

In testimony prepared for the House Banking Committee, Brittain said the bank will continue to finance residential mortgages at 7½ per cent and raise rates to small business borrowers less than the 1 per cent jump in the prime rate charged its biggest and best customers.

The committee opened an investigation of the prime rate increase Thursday with another confrontation between Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., and Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy.

Patman again accused the secretary of conflicts of interest because of continued financial ties with Continental Illinois National Bank of Chicago, which Kennedy formerly headed.

Senate Recommendations Kennedy denied the charges, telling newsmen afterward he arranged his financial affairs in accordance with recommendations of the Senate Finance Committee and is convinced he has no legal or moral conflict.

One of the verbal clashes at the hearing came when Patman asked the Treasury secretary what he did to try to head off or turn back the prime rate increase.

"There was really nothing I could do," Kennedy replied. "There was no legal possibility of rolling back."

Patman continued: "Did you discuss it with the banks?" "No, I did not..." the secretary answered. "I could do no more than you did. You shouted from the housetops and nothing happened."

Kennedy said he had talked with bankers, corporation executives and labor groups about the general need to contain inflation. But, he continued, "I have not tried to say 'thou shalt not increase this rate.' I have no right to do this... just to get up on a high pulpit as though I were God and say 'thou shalt not.'"

Pursuing his contention the administration should have taken steps in retaliation for the interest rate increase, Patman said: "What about the President? Can he do something?"

"I suspect you'll have to ask him... You did, you wrote him a letter," Kennedy said, referring to a message Patman sent President Nixon urging strong steps to force the banks to reduce the interest rates.

"I received no reply from him," Patman said. "I would think you are closer to him than I am."

"I would hope I am..." Kennedy said, drawing laughter from the packed committee hearing room.

U. S. Fishing Boats Seized By Ecuador

Alleged Violation of Territorial Waters

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seven U. S. fishing boats were seized by Ecuador this morning and are being taken into Ecuadorian ports, according to preliminary reports received in Washington.

One of the American vessels was fired upon by the Ecuadorians, industry-connected sources said.

The State Department immediately began checking into the affair. Initial reports came from radio dispatches from the vessels.

At San Diego, Calif., the American Tunaboat Association said six—rather than seven—U. S. tuna boats were shot at and seized by a patrol boat from Ecuador for allegedly violating Ecuador's territorial waters.

The latest incident comes on the heels of a running argument with Ecuador, Peru and some other Latin American countries on fishing off Latin American shores.

Many Latin American countries claim jurisdiction 200 miles offshore. The United States recognizes only a three-mile territorial limit offshore, although it respects claims by countries exercising jurisdiction over fishing and other items up to 12 miles off the coast.

Pullout of 250,000 Possible Before 1971

Nixon 'Hopes to Better
Timetable' on Vietnam
Proposed by Clifford

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's newest comments on U. S. troop withdrawal are being interpreted by some military sources as meaning 250,000 American servicemen could be out of Vietnam by the end of 1970.

Nixon said Thursday "I would hope that we could beat" a timetable proposed by former Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford calling for the pullout of 100,000 troops by this year's end and all U. S. ground combat forces by the close of 1970.

Military sources, after Nixon's news conference, noted the President referred to action already taken to withdraw one-tenth of American fighting forces, meaning the 25,000 who will come out in July and August.

Combat Division The 25,000 is considered by the administration as the equivalent of a combat division "package," counting support elements.

There are 10 Army and Marine divisions or equivalent in Vietnam. If all these ground combat packages were brought out, it would total about 250,000 men, officials suggest.

That still would leave nearly 300,000 men in Vietnam to provide air, helicopter, artillery and other backup for the South Vietnamese infantry. Gradually, these backup elements would be reduced as the South Vietnamese took over their functions.

Military planners have contended it would take about two years to complete an orderly withdrawal of the roughly 540,000 U. S. troops in Vietnam and huge amounts of equipment and supplies, other than what would be left behind for the South Vietnamese.

August Decision As for further withdrawals after the first 25,000, Nixon said "another decision will be made in August."

The number, the President said, "will depend upon the extent of the training of the South Vietnamese, as well as developments in Paris, and the other factors that I have mentioned previously."

One such factor would be the level of enemy military activity. Nixon told the nation "there is no substantial evidence, publicly," that the time has come for substantive negotiations with the enemy in Paris, where the peace talks are in a virtual stalemate.

Not Pessimistic However, the President said he is not pessimistic about the outcome and said "we hope within the next two or three months to see some progress" in discussions.

Thinking has been in terms of removing possibly up to 70,000 troops, overall, by the first of next year. Nixon's remarks opened the prospect of raising the goal to 100,000 or more this year.

Nixon rejected Clifford's implication "that the United States is at the present time responsible for the level of fighting."

"It takes two in order to reduce the level of fighting," Nixon said, adding a suggestion that if the enemy would match the U. S. troop withdrawal "that would tend to reduce the level of fighting."

Nixon had some tart comments on the record of the Johnson administration and Clifford, though he said "I respect his judgment as a former secretary of defense."

The President put it this way: "I would point out, however, that for five years the administration in which he was secretary of defense in the last part we had continued escalation of the war, we had 500,000 Americans in Vietnam; we had 35,000 killed; we had over 200,000 injured."

"And, in addition to that, we found that in the year, the full year, in which he was secretary of defense, our casualties were the highest of the whole five-year period and, as far as negotiations were concerned, all that had been accomplished... was that we had agreed on the shape of the table."

"This is not to say that Mr. Clifford's present judgment is not to be considered because of the past record. It does indicate, however, that he did have a chance in this particular respect, and did not move on it then."

Asked whether he had any comment to offer, Clifford replied: "None."

"I said all I had to say," Clifford added, referring to his 21-page article on the war.

Questions Covered Variety of Topics

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon in a wide ranging 32-minute news conference Thursday, said his efforts to bank the nation's inflationary fires will start having an effect within two to three months.

He also explained that he holds out hope for massive troop withdrawal from Vietnam by the end of 1970 and touched on the outcome of municipal elections in New York City, his missile defense system and who ordered a wiretap of Dr. Martin Luther King's telephone.

When asked to assess the troubled economy, the chief executive said actions taken by his administration "will begin to have effect within a matter of two to three months" in cooling off the inflation spiral. But he added, rather ominously:

"If our projection proves to be wrong, then we will have to look to other courses of action, because we cannot allow prices to continue to go up, interest to go up, and the other factors... to continue."

Wage Price Control He did not elaborate but Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy suggested last week that wage-price controls might be sought should the situation get out of hand, although the White House said there are no plans for such action at this time.

On the major military controversy of 1969—whether to authorize a Nixon-sponsored Safeguard antiballistic missile system—the President said flatly:

"We will win the fight on Safeguard. It will not be necessary to compromise."

This was a firmer forecast of the administration's voting strength in the Senate on this divisive issue than any uttered previously by Nixon or Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird.

Testing Warhead Nixon said intelligence, received since he recommended Safeguard, indicates the Soviet Union is testing a new multi-warhead offensive missile that, if made fully operational, could wipe out 80 per cent of the United States' Minuteman missile sites by 1973.

"ABM is needed particularly in order to meet that eventually," he said.

As to Vietnam, the President said: "He can cite no public evidence that serious peace talks are beginning in Paris but as asserted, 'I am not pessimistic about the outcome.'"

Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the U. S. commander in Vietnam, has orders to "conduct this war with a minimum of American casualties."

'Americans Are Tired Of Violence'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Conservative victories in recent municipal elections mean the American people are fed up with violence and lawlessness, according to President Nixon, who made law and order a major issue of his campaign for the White House.

When asked at his Thursday news conference how he assessed elections in New York City, Los Angeles and Minneapolis in which generally conservative candidates won, Nixon said:

"This is the message that comes through rather loud and clear from these elections: 'The American people in our cities, in our small towns and in this country are fed up to here with violence and lawlessness and they want candidates who will take a strong stand against.' He emphasized his point by pointing to his Adam's apple.

Endorses Marchi The President also said he endorses the bid by conservative Republican John Marchi over John V. Lindsay for mayor of New York.

Lindsay, although the loser in the Republican primary, will be on the general election ballot as the Liberal party candidate.

Nixon said he endorses all Republican candidates and "therefore, I will endorse Sen. Marchi and the other Republican nominees on the city ticket in New York." But he added he will not campaign, comment or participate in any election below the state level, including New York City's.

In his bid for the presidency, and even after taking office, Nixon has stressed what he said is the need by the courts and local officials to crack down on unlawful behavior. The recent elections back him up, Nixon indicated.

He noted the first reaction to Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty's successful re-election bid was to see it as "simply a white-black vote" because the other candidate, Thomas Bradley, was

Irish Give
Lynch Clear
Majority Win

Fianna Fail Party
In Power for 30
Of Past 37 Years

DUBLIN (AP) — Ireland's voters gave Prime Minister Jack Lynch an outright majority in the republic's elections today—and the 52-year-old former rugby star cheerfully announced he was off to go fishing.

With the count all but over in the vote for a new Dail (lower house), Lynch's governing Fianna Fail party held 72 voting seats plus that of the house speaker, who was returned automatically.

The combined opposition totaled 66. Only five seats remained to be decided and the opposition could not possibly gain a majority.

Notable Triumph Lynch, fighting his first campaign as prime minister, had pulled off a notable triumph against virtually unanimous forecasts that his majority would vanish. He called it "a great victory."

Fianna Fail (soldiers of destiny) is the party of business and the small farmer. It has ruled for 30 of the past 37 years and now gets a mandate for five more years.

Lynch arrived smiling at a Dublin conference of the European Movement. Newsmen asked him his plans for the weekend and he replied: "goin' fishing."

Fishing for a new Cabinet? "Maybe," he said. A Cabinet reshuffle is, in fact, virtually certain, as Lynch himself indicated when he first appeared likely to win back power.

With four seats to be decided, the state of the parties was: Fianna Fail 73 (including speaker), Fine Gael (Irish party), Labor 18, Independent 1.

Air Traffic Controllers Back on Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — Air traffic controllers were back on the job full strength around the country today, ending the congestion crisis that threatened chaos at key airports on one of their busiest days.

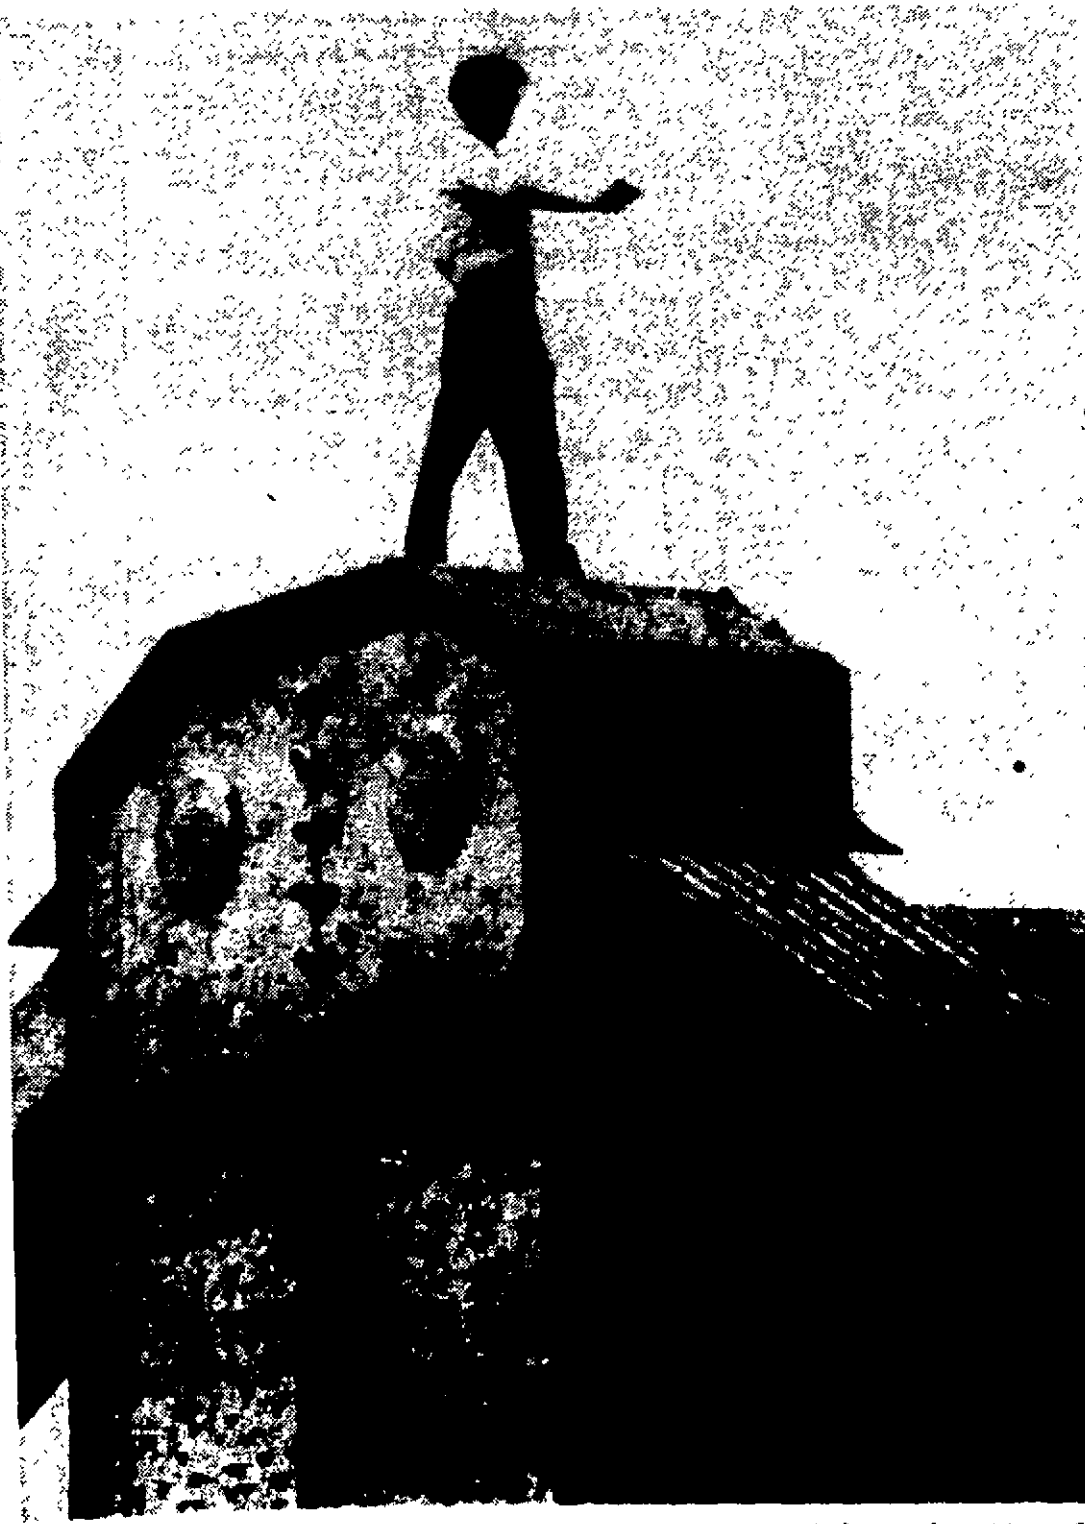

"Everything is normal, absolutely normal," said a government spokesman.

F. Lee Bailey, attorney for the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization, signaled an end to the dispute when he said this morning the group had urged its members to return to work on a normal basis.

The controllers either called in sick in unusually high numbers Thursday or applied Federal Aviation Administration safety rules so strictly that planes were up to four hours behind schedule and airlines canceled flights.

The Last Celebration

FROG CITY STATION, Fla. (AP) — Miccosukee Indians stomped the Green Corn Dance, but this time there was little reason for happiness during the traditionally joyous life celebration.

The Miccosukees know their primitive way of life may be forever buried in the tons of concrete poured to mold the runways of a giant jetport 50 miles west of Miami.

One runway would be but 200 yards from the grounds where the Miccosukee have danced and gathered for tribal councils since they first slogged into the Everglades during the Seminole wars of the early 1800s.

"We don't think we have any chance of stopping the jetport from being put there, but we do think the federal government should do something for us Miccosukees," tribal leader Buffalo Tiger said Thursday.

"Everybody talks about progress—but progress is ruining the Indian. It's just another example of the white man cheating the Indians of their birthright."

Conservation groups protested recently to a U. S. Senate committee that construction of the jetport, financed in part with federal funds, would destroy the Everglades National Park with water and noise pollution.

For the Miccosukees, whose major concession to the white man's progress is a service station and restaurant on the busy Tamiami Trail, the threat is greater.

"We have 485 Miccosukees in this area," Tiger said. "The Miccosukees like to fish and hunt. We have villages along the Tamiami Trail where we make our living."

"All this will go. The game in the Everglades will be chased away by the screaming of the jet engines. There will be no fish in the canals and streams. And soon there will be no business for us on the Tamiami Trail."

Sniper Sprays Police, Shoots Himself

PITTSBURGH (AP) — While blocks away, Michniak held his mother watched on television. A young student stood atop a downtown bridge for more than an hour shooting at police. Then he critically wounded himself in the head with a pistol.

Robert Michniak, 22, described by his mother as quiet, withdrawn and often nervous, climbed nearly 100 feet to the top of the span Thursday and fired four shots into the air. Police were called.

One policeman was hit in the hand by a bullet fragment. Finally Michniak pointed the gun to his head, fired and slumped out of sight.

Your Money's Worth Bridal Boom Points to Increased Business

BY SYLVIA PORTER

If the decade of the 1970s is to be the era of the young marrieds — and that it will be — then the early years of the Seventies must be the era of the young bride. If the coming 10 years is to see an explosion in industries and services catering to the married couple moving up in age through their 20s, then the period directly ahead must see ances alone is up to $8 billion a year, according to the Bride's Magazine, biggest in the field. A survey by Bride's of its readers discloses each will spend an average of $8,400 in this area for her first apartment or house.

"The brides and grooms of the Seventies will be the best educated and most affluent couples in the world," chortles Robert M. Thorsen, publisher of Bride's, and he's loaded with figures to emphasize how much the average bride will spend for a dishwasher, wall-to-wall carpeting, silverware, glassware, etc. (After 35 years, the magazine has shifted to eight issues a year.)

But this stuff doesn't impress men nearly as much as the following three findings of Bride's survey.

(1) — An overwhelming 94 per cent of today's brides plan to continue working after marriage — with an average stay on the job of about three years.

Two Paychecks
This means that the proportion of husband-wife teams, already at the highest ever, will soar further and the two-paycheck family will become far more commonplace. Finally, the times have truly caught up with "me."

It means an enormous amount of extra buying power in each husband-wife family — which the couple can use for more education as well as appliances, for more travel as well as carpeting.

It means that the young marrieds must learn how to manage dual paychecks — how to pool as well as split their weekly incomes, various expenses, payment of bills, savings.

It means that the next baby boom (in numbers) will be drawn out and postponed.

(2) — A fat 83 per cent expect to start in apartments but 99 an explosion in industries and services catering to the newly-married just entering that age bracket.

Dramatic though it may strike you, this type of forecast is extremely easy to make. All you need do is project the population figures and you turn a teenager born in the last year of the 1940s into a 20-year-old in the first year of the 1970s. You see him switching from a dependent student today to an independent earner tomorrow. And so forth.

Actually, it's already obvious. The number of weddings is crossing the two million-a-year mark, approaching the all-time peak of 2,291,045 set in 1946, when the GIs of my generation came home from the wars, married and created the baby boom which is about to become the young married boom.

A Look Into Future
This translates into an average of 5,497 engagements and marriages every day. And this in turn says that the bridal market is about to blast off.

The total that brides spend for home furnishings and appli-

"Mind if we get there alive?"

per cent of them plan to move to a house after four years.

This points up again the dimensions of the housing boom as the 1970s progress and the likelihood that mortgage money to finance new homes will remain hard to get and comparatively costly.

(3) — The average age of today's bride is up to 21 years from 20.1 in the late 1940s and the length of her engagement is up to 11.2 months against a mere six months a decade ago.

This indicates that today's bride is far more serious about marriage and better prepared for it than any generation was.

It's fundamentally reassuring. The fabulous bridal market of the Seventies will have some rather magnificent aspects too. (Copyright 1969)

MADISON (AP) — Five graduating seniors finished with straight "A" averages at the University of Wisconsin's Madison and Milwaukee campus, the university reported Monday.

Ronald P. Mann of Milwaukee had a perfect record at UW-Milwaukee, while four shared the honors at the Madison campus.

They are Raymond C. Groth of West Bend, Mark C. Mendelsohn of Milwaukee, Ann Prislant of Evanston, Ill., and William Grosnick of Manitowish.

The Rev. Albert Hoffman, 56, pastor of Nazareth Lutheran Church, told police he was clubbed several times by two youths, one of them using a two-foot iron rod, as he was unlocking the door of his church.

Are You Prepared For Your Baby's Birth?

"Prepared childbirth" is a fairly recent development in medical history. I do not subscribe to the cultist attitude in which the "prepared birth" method is sometimes embraced by devotees. Your own physician and obstetrician is best qualified to make medical decisions on your behalf. But all mothers-to-be ought to investigate the possibility of such pre-natal conditioning for their own baby's delivery.

"Prepared childbirth" is of ten, and unhappily, described as love and admire her. I would "natural childbirth," and "pain-never have suspected her — or less childbirth." Any birth is anyone else — capable of such "natural" and whether or not a mother requires anesthesia at delivery should be a decision only a physician can make. But, from personal observation, I can vouch that, under the ordinary conditions, "prepared childbirth" can make giving birth a remarkable experience. When the obstetrician allows the father's presence, it is a weeks before delivery. moving event in his life. If you are interested in finding out more about "Prepared wives very close to each other. This method is based on simple physical and breathing exercises that require practice in the later months of pregnancy, and a conditioning approach the U. # 72-Year-Old Man Crushed By Dump Truck

Victim Watching E. Newberry Street Construction Work

A 72-year-old man who was watching construction work on E. Newberry Street was crushed to death under the wheels of a dump truck about 4 p.m. Thursday.

The victim was Martin Jansen, 3031 E. Newberry St., who died of crushing chest and internal injuries, according to C. J. Schink, Outagamie County deputy coroner. Jansen was dead on arrival at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Driver of the unloaded dump truck was William R. Rogers, 27, 1312 Harvey St., Green Bay. The 15,000-pound truck is owned by Bitters Trucking Co., Green Bay.

Jansen's son, Martin J. Jansen, 34, was murdered Jan. 20, 1968, while working as a custodian at Cloud Buick Co., Inc., in

Administrative Districting Plan Pushed by Knowles

Governor to Order New Setup in July

BY TIM WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — A state administrative districting plan will be put into effect next month through an executive order, Gov. Warren P. Knowles announced Thursday.

The controversial plan would divide the state into eight sections for carrying out state administrative functions.

It has run into a broadside of opposition from local government and regional planning officials. Most vehement among the plan's critics has been Gordon Bubolz, chairman of the Northeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission, who fears it might alter the commission's boundaries.

At a state operational cabinet meeting Thursday, Knowles announced that he wants the plan's outlines finished by July 7 and that the cabinet will consider it in detail on July 21.

Needs Approval
If it meets with the approval of the heads of the state departments to be affected by the plan, it will be put into effect through an executive order shortly afterwards, he told the agency chiefs.

He made his announcement after the cabinet spent more than an hour with two top level Minnesota state administrators who outlined steps taken in setting up a districting plan in that neighboring state.

The bulk of the message was that Minnesota approached the districting problem from the opposite direction as Wisconsin and that there was little that Wisconsin can learn and benefit from in Minnesota's experience.

That state has drafted a mandatory plan, enacted overwhelmingly by its legislature, designed to provide for grassroots participation in a districting system designed to delegate powers to local units of government.

The Wisconsin plan affects state agencies operating at the regional and local level in the state, in a means of reshaping the organization of state agencies on those levels. The plan is designed to attempt to consolidate state operations through all of the agencies operating in a region.

Bubolz Critical
In the past few months, Bubolz has publicly made many scathing statements about the administrative districting plan, because the preliminary district boundaries cut through the boundaries of the Northeastern

Annual State Conference Closes

Cooperation in Ministry, Programs Resolved by United Church of Christ

BY MALJA PENIKIS
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

An effort to cooperate with other denominations in programs as well as ministry appears to permeate the seventh annual convention of the Wisconsin Conference, United Church of Christ, (UCC) here.

A resolution to cooperate in three areas of endeavor with Presbyterians and Methodists was adopted by the more than 600 delegates Wednesday.

Present for the action were the Rev. Dr. Ralph Ley, president of the state conference of UCC; Bishop Ralph Taylor Alton, Madison, heading the United Methodist Church in Wisconsin, and the Rev. Dr. William Longbrake, Waukesha, president of the Wisconsin Synod, United Presbyterian Church.

"In the light of contemporary understanding of the essential oneness of the Christian Church, an adequate ministry in any community demands cooperation in ministry and planning among the congregations of our several communities in the same community," the resolution states.

Areas of Cooperation
Areas of cooperation include regional and community planning; cooperative ministry and new congregations and ministries.

Under the regional and community planning program, congregations are urged to participate in cooperative efforts to better conditions and overcome problems and make cooperative and careful study of the community, each congregation using all available data and research services.

Broadly, the area of cooperative ministry includes shared or group ministry, with the approval and accreditation of each denomination involved.

It is stressed, however, that the development of such services of two or more pastors is encouraged in "many, not all situations, and any plan of shared ministry" shall be reviewed annually by equal representation from each congregation.

Four area youths attending the 1000th anniversary of the 2-million member UCC will be given the opportunity to decide for themselves whether they want to join a united church embracing one-quarter of American Protestantism.

This assurance was given Wednesday by Mrs. Thomas R. Wagner, Lakeville, Conn., a member of the national executive council of UCC.

an effort on the part of nine major Protestant denominations, including UCC, to establish a new church of more than 25 million members.

"The plan of union has not yet ripened to the point of publication," Mrs. Wagner said. "The general synod of UCC has said each congregation... can decide for itself what action to take."

Common Ministry
"We also commit ourselves to keeping each other immediately and fully informed of any proposals for acquisition of sites and programs and services in mutual consultation so that eventually we may make adjustments to provide a more effective common ministry," the third area of joint endeavor reads.

Along the same lines, the delegates also were informed that the 1000th anniversary of the 2-million member UCC will be given the opportunity to decide for themselves whether they want to join a united church embracing one-quarter of American Protestantism.

Members of the consultation are expected to vote on a formal plan of union at their 1970 meeting.

Long Asks for Added Space

District Attorney Tells Committee Office Too Crowded

Dist. Atty. James Long would like more office space and he is not particular where in the courthouse or annex it is located.

Long told the Outagamie County Board's public properties committee Thursday that he, his two assistants and two stenographers, are working in space that was originally designed for one attorney and one stenographer.

"I am not demanding more space, but I just don't want to be forgotten," the district attorney told the committee. He suggested he would be willing to use the space in the annex recently vacated by the Social Security Department even though it was a considerable distance from the courts.

Supv. Walter Fredericks, New London, said the board did not want to move anyone now because they would probably have to move some offices during construction or remodeling of the jail.

Long agreed to wait until after a July 7 meeting of the committee when some office rearrangement would be discussed. But, he said, "I cannot stay where I am now until a new building is built."

County Board Chairman Sylvester Esler was critical of the Long's request. "When people read this they will think you don't have any space and that's not true," he said.

Outagamie Sheriff's Agency Adds Video Tape Equipment

Outagamie County today took way Safety Act funds. The sheriff's office of $3,200 worth of video county paid for the other half of tape equipment for the sheriff's department.

Spice said the video tape recorder will be used for a variety of enforcement activities, including the filming of suspected drunk drivers, fatal accidents, and other serious accidents, shifts will be thoroughly trained in its operation.

The equipment, first of its kind to be used by a police agency in this county, was purchased through Sony Corporation, and a modified television set through which the film is shown.

Organization Stymied Disaster Agency Still Having It's Difficulties

Problems are still plaguing efforts of Howard Rathbun, Outagamie County emergency government director, to set up an Economic Stabilization Agency in the county.

The agency would operate in the areas of rationing, and wage and rent controls in the event of a national emergency.

Rathbun met Thursday with the board's health, education and institutions committee to seek a go-ahead to start the search for unpaid volunteers to head up the agency.

He noted that while his office was given the job to set up a stabilization agency, civil defense actually had nothing to do with its operation.

Too Big

Supv. Russell DeLaHunt, Kaukauna, committee chairman, told Rathbun the committee supported the idea, but the Long's request. "When people read this they will think you don't have any space and that's not true," he said.

DeLaHunt asserted, "It involves too many people. No one will

Contractors, Union Begin More Talks

Fox Valley Group, Teamsters Move Toward Agreement

Representatives of the Fox Valley General Contractors Association and four Teamsters Union locals met at Oshkosh today in another round of contract talks.

The former three-year contract expired May 1, 1968, but its terms were extended by mutual agreement.

Unions involved in the negotiations include those representing the Appleton, Fond du Lac, Oshkosh, Manitowoc and Sheboygan areas.

50 Contractors
The association is comprised of 50 major contractors from Fond du Lac to Marinette, along with an estimated 100 associate members.

Association and union negotiators were meeting with a Wisconsin Employment Relations Commission (WERC) mediator during the forenoon.

Allocation Arrives For Housing Unit

Firm Proceeding With Pre-Project Planning for Elderly Development

An official allocation for a 150-unit housing for the elderly project for Appleton arrived in the mail today and was forwarded to the city housing authority.

It came within 24 hours after representatives of Towne Realty, Inc., Milwaukee, met with the authority at city hall.

The Milwaukee firm is proceeding with pre-project planning for the development, which was approved recently by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

The city will get an estimated $3 million for construction of the 150-unit high rise on the city's near northeast side within walking distance of the central business district.

S. Daniel Tishberg, representing the nationally-known Milwaukee firm, conferred with housing authority members and said preliminaries are being wrapped up on the site, specifications and plans for the project.

After interviewing representatives of many firms several months ago, along with receiving proposals on various types of design and construction, the housing authority said it was entering into an agreement of intent with Towne Realty, Inc.

Once the actual federal funds are received, and this is expected to be soon, a formal contract will be signed for the firm to construct a turnkey project.

Coroner Rules Death Suicide

Victim Drowns After Leap From Memorial Bridge

A 30-year-old woman whose body was recovered from the Fox River Thursday afternoon committed suicide by drowning, according to C. J. Schink, Outagamie County deputy coroner.

State conservation wardens, about 1:40 p.m. Thursday, recovered the body of Mrs. Forrest Redding from about four feet of water just east of the Memorial Drive bridge. Authorities had dragged the river for about eight hours.

Mrs. Redding, of 721 W. Fifth St., leaped from the 100-foot-high bridge into about 12 feet of water about 8 p.m. Wednesday, a half hour after she walked away from the fourth-floor psychiatric ward at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

A Menasha couple saw her jump from the bridge. Mrs. Redding's husband identified her purse Wednesday night. She had left the purse, on the bridge. Mrs. Redding reportedly had been despondent and had threatened to take her life in the past.

There was some speculation that she may have died of fall the county board had the appointment authority but agreed, O'Connor Wednesday. The woman was arrested after a fractured nose and a possible car injury.

Winnebago Port Terminal Plans Win Slim Approval

OSHKOSH — The Winnebago County Board Thursday approved plans to construct a $2.8 million terminal building at the county airport.

By a 32-12 vote, the supervisors passed a resolution authorizing the aviation committee to retain the services of an architect to draw plans and specifications, and for the finance committee to develop a method of financing to pay for the structure. A two-thirds vote was needed and the resolution passed by a single vote.

Although the resolution did not specify any one of the six schemes outlined by Airport Manager Michael Brock and Oshkosh Supv. Kenneth Seefeld, it was apparently understood that the passage of the resolution also meant approval of "scheme 3" which will cost $2,844,150.

91,100 Square Feet
Earlier this week, the aviation committee approved recommending to the board scheme 3, which will provide a terminal encompassing 91,100 square feet with total construction costs of $2,425,400. However, $48,000 previously earmarked for a canopy, was deleted from the plans. Landscaping and parking, and legal, architect, engineers and contingent fees, totaling $466,750, brings the total outlay to $2,844,150.

The committee had been considering six schemes designed by the architectural firm of Needles, Tammen & Bergendoff.

Six Schemes
These schemes ranged in cost from $3,085,400 to $2,051,600, and in total square feet from 113,052 to 81,150. Brock had suggested adoption of scheme 6, the smallest of terminal plans, costing just over $2 million. However, the committee decided to build "for the future" and approve scheme 3 which they said would be needed at the airport within the next five years.

Brock explained Thursday that scheme 3 provides an additional second level hold area with associated concourse, an additional $123,000; 2,700 square feet versus 1,350 square feet of baggage claim area on the first floor, an additional $40,500, and 2,960 square feet versus 1,200 square feet of first floor holding area, an additional $52,800 expenditure, as compared to scheme 6.

The new terminal building will be 91,100 square feet; will have a revenue producing area of 45,150 square feet, and non-revenue area of 45,950 square feet. The present terminal is 12,800 square feet. Brock indicated that the existing terminal will be remodeled into a freight depot.

Both Seefeld and the airport manager said costs for remodeling could go as high as $84,000 "but I don't think we'll spend that much," Brock said.

"Assuming we don't remodel, there will be a $27.38 per square foot cost for the new terminal," the airport manager said. Brock and Seefeld justified the $2.8 million-plus expenditure over scheme 6, citing "increasing costs in construction annually."

Voting against the terminal building expenditure were Supvs. Arthur Ales, Menasha; Herman Brandt, Town of Omro and Ulica; George Christoph, Neenah; Laurel Heaney, Town of Neenah; Earl Holverson, Poygan-Winchester-Wolf; Robert Johnson, Town of Clayton; Vincent; Roland Kamp, Town of Menasha; Clarence Loehning, Charles Tappan, Oliver Thomsen, and Dan Luebke, all of Neenah, and Hubert Sherman, Menasha.

Brock told the board that "ultimately (when the county reaches the need for scheme 1) the estimated gross annual revenue income would be about $245,180."

Kampo objected to a portion of the resolution, "resolving, that the finance committee develop an appropriate method of financing... to cover the cost of the project."

He suggested to Brock and the board a method of financing the terminal building through revenue bonds, taking into consideration the projected revenue income estimated by Brock.

"If this port can develop this kind of revenue ($245,180)... let's study the possible financing of this through the revenue bond basis," the Menasha town chairman said.

Supv. Thomsen admitted the need for a new terminal but said "even though the costs (construction) are going up the

Committee Favors One-Way Traffic On Maple Street

KAUKAUNA — The public protection and safety committee has recommended to the legislative committee, the drafting of an ordinance to have one-way traffic on Maple Street, behind the high school.

If the ordinance is adopted, the engineer will install necessary signs. The engineer also was instructed to have dilapidated signs near the swimming pool replaced.

The committee made plans to meet with Lt. William Nagel of the police force prior to September to discuss the need for an adult school crossing guard at Delanglade and Lawe streets.

value of the dollar is decreasing at the same time."

"I hate to think of this terminal comparing in cost to a new high school," he said.

Passenger Service
"After all, the county airport is not a junction but rather a place where persons get passenger service, principally to Chicago or Milwaukee."

He was against spending the $2.8 million now for the "elite, fancy terminal" which he feels in the end will not "attract or draw people." Thomsen indicated he was in favor of building the terminal in stages, and "construct the additions when needed."

Parking Fees
Later in the afternoon, the board approved an ordinance establishing landing and overnight parking fees at the port. Excluded from the fee schedule is North Central Airlines, Inc., all aircraft based at the port, all privately owned aircraft operated not for hire, and all craft owned or operated by governmental units.

The maximum certified gross take-off weight of aircraft, under 12,500 pounds a fee $5 per landing will be charged, and the heaviest, 110,000 pounds and up, a $30 fee will be charged. Overnight parking rates are as follows: single-engine, daily rate, $1, monthly rate, $10; and multi-engine, daily, $2 and $20 monthly.

Luft Convicted on Bad Check Count

FREEHOLD, N.J. (AP) — Michael Sidney Luft, Judy Garland's former husband, has been convicted by a jury of passing a $2,639 bad check.

The jury acquitted Luft Tuesday of a second charge of passing a $1,000 bad check.

Luft, who is still Miss Garland's business manager, wrote the checks to a hotel in Asbury Park last June to cover her bill while she was performing at a nearby theater. He said, "I thought I had the money in the bank, but apparently I was overdrawn."

Luft, who said he would appeal, faces a maximum penalty of three years in prison and a $1,000 fine.

Pool School Planning, Fox Valley Parochial, Public Educators Told

NEENAH-MENASHA — A closer relationship between public and parochial schools in planning was promoted Thursday night by James Clark, chairman of the private school trends committee of the Fox Valley Curriculum Study Council (FVCS).

Clark, business manager of the Neenah school system, told educators at the FVCS banquet that a study during the past year of private school trends has shown an ever-increasing number of parochial students are entering public schools.

This is due primarily to the financial bind of the parochial schools, Clark said, explaining they cannot build needed facilities. With enrollment thus limited, the parochial students are turning to the public schools, he said.

Clark called for cooperation between the schools to study the curriculum, any construction plans, and programs so students coming from parochial schools could easily adapt to public schools.

This joint knowledge of each other's plans could also aid in long range planning of both public and parochial facilities, Clark said.

Clark told the educators the entire Fox Valley membership of the FVCS has been surveyed, and he said a broad statistical analysis of all data collected would be available in the fall.

Dr. Walter F. Bense, secretary of the Religious Education Committee of the FVCS, said his committee has found that people are concerned that youngsters are growing up with less and less knowledge and awareness of religion.

He said surveys on instruction about religion in the public schools were mailed to Fox Valley school administrators. Of the 34 replies, 65 per cent of the respondents felt that the public schools should teach about religion.

This is a touchy, but important subject, Dr. Bense said. To date the committee has made no recommendations concerning religious education.

Uruguayan GM Building Attacked

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — Terrorists attacked a General Motors building here today, setting fire to the structure and causing damage estimated at $1 million.

Police said two persons dressed as police officers and armed with machine guns tied up two watchmen at the suburban GM center, then sprayed offices and automobiles with a hose attached to a gasoline pump.

The attack came as Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York conferred in Paraguay. He is due in Uruguay Saturday on his Latin-American tour. The attack was attributed to elements of the clandestine Tupamaros National Liberation Movement, a Peking-leaning terrorist group.

Most of the offices in the building and at least six automobiles were reported destroyed by the time firemen arrived.

Kiesinger Visit Rescheduled

BOON, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger's visit with President Nixon in Washington has been rescheduled for Aug. 4-5, the West German government says.

The talks, originally set for early June, twice have been postponed—first by Kiesinger because of a European money crisis and then by Nixon because of the impending Apollo 11 moon landing attempt.

Mountain to be Named In Honor of Eisenhower

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — The New Hampshire Legislature has voted to name a mountain after the late President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

A bill changing the name of Mt. Pleasant in the White Mountains to Mt. Eisenhower was adopted Tuesday by the House. It had already passed the Senate. Peaks in New Hampshire already named after presidents include Mts. Washington, Adams, Monroe, Jackson and Jefferson.

Pool Rejected for New Neenah High

NEENAH — Once again the idea of including a swimming pool in the plans for a new senior high school was rejected Thursday, this time by the city's capital expenditures planning committee.

Although building a pool with the high school might be $300,000 cheaper than building the planned separate facility in 1973, the committee decided it couldn't add any more to the school bond issue and tax rate.

"I don't think you're going to be able to add a half-million dollars to $4.5 million and get away with it," Carl S. Marty said, noting that the $4.5 million figure was already a million over the original cost estimates for the school.

"Even if there is an immediate saving, we have to consider the taxpayers. I think we are working against an increasing tax rate as it is," Mayor Donald Hassler added.

"The purpose of long-range planning is to maintain a balanced tax rate. The same argument of building now to reduce costs could be used for many of the other programs we have pushed back into the future," Hassler said.

"It is almost out-of-the-question to appropriate money for the pool for 1970," he concluded. Last year, the committee had recommended construction of a $750,000 pool for 1970, but early this year moved the project back to 1973 after it decided other projects had higher priority.

According to estimates made in April by Shaver & Company, Salina, Kan., architects for the school, an indoor-outdoor pool could be constructed with the school for $440,000.

Costs would be cheaper than for a separate facility because of multiple use of locker and shower rooms, utility services and heating facilities, and bidding advantages on a larger total project.

Other Demands
Besides the tax considerations, there were other objections to a school pool, including Ald. Paul Mueller's feeling that there would be demands for pools in other schools within Neenah.

However, committee members did not completely kill the possibility of adding a pool on the school in the future, noting that the architects were designing the school so it would be possible to add on a pool.

As long as no extra money was spent for that purpose, the architects should proceed as they are doing, committee members felt.

The pool proposal was explained to the committee by William Dunwiddie, a Neenah high school teacher, and James Clark, the school district's business manager.

The school pool proposal had originally been made in May by Starkie Swenson, chairman of the park-recreation commission, but the city's finance committee had been cool to the idea.

Jaycees Plan Circus In NM

NEENAH-MENASHA — The three-ring Sells and Gray Circus will be in town for a performance July 20, through the efforts of the Twin Cities Jaycees.

The bigtop will go up at the corner of Byrd Avenue and Marathon Street, between American Can Co. and Neenah Foundry Co.

Tickets go on sale Saturday at all A & W Root Beer stands and banks in the Twin Cities, and at Kresge's at Fox Point Shopping Center.

Eau Claire Voters OK Highway, Not Bridge

EAU CLAIRE (AP) — Voters went to the polls Tuesday in their first municipal bond issue referendum since the 1920s, and approved funds for a highway project but rejected plans for buying a new downtown bridge.

An $860,000 bond issue for construction of a bridge as part of a modernized traffic pattern was rejected. A bond issue of $465,000 as the city's share of a $2.76 million, three-mile, six-lane section of Highway 12 bypass was approved.

Eau Claire's last previous bond issue referendum was in the early 1920s, when voters approved a new high school.

Arnold Palmer Gives Putting Green to Nixon

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — Arnold Palmer has given President Nixon a six-hole synthetic-surfaced putting green for his Key Biscayne home.

The green, 12 feet by 30 and framed in aluminum, was installed in the President's backyard. Doc Giffin, a Palmer aide, said Wednesday the green is a product of one of the millionaire golfer's several sports equipment corporations.

Compensation Sought for Guardsmen

Large Bill Asks Guarantee to Pay Medical Expenses

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — The legislature has been asked to pass a law guaranteeing that members of the Wisconsin National Guard will receive workmen's compensation for sickness or injury resulting from being called to state duty.

Sen. Gerald Lorge, R-Bear Creek, said he wrote the bill upon the request of Clintonville members of the Guard who became exhausted and ill during the period of their service in Milwaukee when they were summoned to restore order after the civil disturbances there two summers ago.

He said that the state department of industry, labor and human relations, which administers the workmen's compensation act, had denied compensation some of them had sought to cover their medical and hospital bills following that assignment.

The Lorge bill would provide that in such cases members of the militia called to state service would be assured of benefit eligibility when they are not covered by the national compensation law on a substantially equal basis.

The bill provides that if a Guardsman receives benefits, they will be paid at the highest level permitted under the compensation act, without regard to his rank or compensation as a member of the Guard.

Market Clings To Thin Gain

Investor Concern Still Being Felt, Brokers Reveal

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market clung to a thin gain in moderately active trading early this afternoon, with brokers reporting investor concern still restraining the market.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 0.71 at 883.08. The Dow had been up 1.81 at 11 a.m.

Gains led losses by a thin margin. "The President's remarks on Vietnam helped boost the market a bit in early trading," an analyst said, "and you also got some bargain hunting because the market is so oversold."

President Nixon said in a Thursday news conference that he held out hope for massive troop withdrawals from Vietnam by the end of 1970.

Tight Money
Analysts said that while this gave investors some encouragement, "They still realize that any possible troop withdrawals are in the future, while tight money is here and now."

The Associated Press average of 80 stocks at noon was up .7 at 314.6, with industrials up 1.0, rails up .3, and utilities up .7. Conglomerates, steels, rubber issues, aircrafts, and utilities were mixed. Motors mostly were fractionally higher.

Among higher-priced issues IBM gained 4; Control Data, up 3 1/2; and DuPont, unchanged at 133 1/2.

Eleven of the 20 most-active issues on the New York Stock Exchange advanced, and 9 declined.

Anaconda, most-active on 110,400 shares, was off 7/8 at 40 1/4.

Fourteen of the 20 most-active issues on the American Stock Exchange were higher, and 6 were lower.

City Seeks Play Area Near Northwest Border

KAUKAUNA — Due to the residential growth near the northwestern limits of the city, James Gertz, recreation director, has been instructed to contact developers of land in the area to determine whether some land could be used for a playground.

The recreation and health committee is investigating the possibility of establishing a neighborhood play area to avoid the danger of having youngsters cross heavily traveled streets to get to supervised playgrounds.

Bill Introduced to Establish Task Force for Welfare Study

MADISON — State Sen. Myron P. Lott, R-Green Bay, and Gerald D. Lorge, R-Bear Creek, were among the co-sponsors of a bill introduced this week establishing a 13-member task force on welfare payments for the purpose of making an in-depth study of Wisconsin's welfare programs.

Pointing out that 25 cents out of every state revenue dollar is spent for health and social services, Lott said, "Welfare costs have reached the point where it is imperative that we re-evaluate our welfare programs and procedures to make certain they are both adequate and as efficient as possible in accomplishing the objectives for which they were established."

State UCC Delegates Pledge Cooperation

theme, "Concerned and Committed."

This includes the action of the board of directors of UCC, which approved participation in a project geared to help minority groups in the state, known as Project Equality of Wisconsin. A total of $4,000 annual support was committed to that program.

This again is a joint effort of Protestants, Catholics and Jews to use all the purchasing power to encourage equal employment opportunity. This means that all involved in the project are encouraged to consider whether equal opportunity exists in the places where they do business.

Milwaukee-Based
Up to the present, the implementation of this project has been under the direction of a temporary steering committee based in Milwaukee, with small groups set up in several other towns in the state.

The board also decided to deposit $15,000 of reserve funds in the Home Bank in Milwaukee for the benefit of black economic development programs in the ghetto.

In a related move, the board authorized a grant to the Afro-Urban Institute in Milwaukee to assist in the continuing formulation of a broadly based economic development program.

A look to the future to staff the field of ministry indicates that there, too, contrary to some other denominations who are losing men, the UCC has produced concerned and committed men.

In a state of the seminary message to the convention, Dr. Harold Wilke, executive director for the church and ministry of UCC, told the group that "there is a need for more ministers but the need is being met quite well."

Enrollment Increase
He said there was a notable increase in seminary enrollment this year, with 1,000 student ministers now compared to 860 in 1968. He attributed this hike to the fact that the young men today are service minded and looking with doubt at the materialistic values of their elders.

Only 380 of their ministers have left the ministry in the past seven years. "Ministers are underpaid," Wilke said, adding, "Although the ministry remains a calling, it is also a profession and should warrant professional remuneration."

In other action, the delegates chose new officers. The Rev. Clarence Guthrie, pastor of a Peace UCC, Fall Creek, assumed the position of moderator. George Burridge, a member of Union Congregational Church, Green Bay, is the new vice moderator.

Re-elected are the Rev. Roger Wentz, pastor, Immanuel UCC, Kaukauna, secretary, and Norman Schowalter, West Bend, treasurer.

Police Investigate Burglary Attempt
Appleton police are investigating an apparent burglary attempt Thursday night at Tennie's Jewelry, 311 W. College Ave.

August Frisch, store owner, notified police at 11 p.m. that he was working in the front of the store when he heard glass breaking near the rear of the building.

Police found a broken 16 by 18-inch rear basement window. They could not find what was used to break the window. Police believe that whoever attempted to enter the building was not aware Frisch was working inside.

Administrative District Plan To be Ordered

Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission.

Bubolz has directed equally strong blasts at a preliminary state plan to include the entire state in regional planning districts. Douglas Weiford, secretary of the Department of Local Affairs and Development, has suggested that the regional planning district lines might follow the administrative district lines.

This would strip away some of the territory of Bubolz's commission, but Weiford contends his plan is flexible and need not alter commission boundaries.

Knowles said some local government officials fear that the plan might be the first step in an attempt to alter their autonomous powers.

Building Policies
Another factor in opposition comes from persons fearing that the state will alter its building policies and that it will attempt to consolidate its departmental buildings throughout the state.

Knowles stated flatly at the cabinet meeting that there is no foreseeable chance that the state will change its policies and follow that course in the future.

The cabinet has agreed, said Knowles, that "it is just not feasible" to attempt such a program.

Roy Olson of the Minnesota Department of Administration told the cabinet that that state's districting efforts started when the state government found "that we had a mess on our hands."

"Problems and the solutions to problems have outrun the established boundaries of government," he said. To solve the mess, said Olson, "it is the responsibility of the state to act in the crucial area of structure."

Regions Can be Changed
He urged the cabinet to remember that "regions are not made in heaven, but are the products of people and negotiations. It doesn't hurt anybody very much to give a little bit on the boundaries they are adhering to. There is more to gain from order than chaos," said Olson.

Roger Schrantz, head of state planning for the Wisconsin department of administration, told the cabinet officials that the state districting plan is considered flexible and that department chiefs have indicated that they will find it adaptable enough to use for their agencies' local efforts.

the Town of Grand Chute.

Appleton police were told that Jansen, Rogers and other men had been talking behind the dump truck. Rogers reportedly got back into the truck, looked into both rear view mirrors and thinking no one was behind the vehicle, starting backing up.

He stopped when he heard shouts from a witness, Jeff Nore, 14, 2508 E. Newberry St. Rogers found Jansen under the truck. The rear dual wheels had passed over the man's chest.

A doctor living near the accident scene applied mouth to mouth resuscitation.

Hard of Hearing
Nore told police that Jansen was leaning against the tailgate of the dump truck when it started to back up. Jansen reportedly was hard of hearing.

Schink said Jansen's death would be considered an industrial accident and not a traffic fatality because the 2500 block of E. Newberry Street, where

New Film Companies Called Instant Majors

Several Releasing Firms Organized, Bring Big Change to Merchandising

BY BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — They're called "instant majors." And indeed major film releasing companies seem to spring forth full-grown, lending diversity and competition to the movie market.

Commonwealth United may sound like a savings and loan bank, but it's a new film company with solid backing. Last week the trade papers carried ads announcing some of its new product: "Julius Caesar," Charlton Heston, Jason Robards, John Gielgud, etc. "Viva Max," Peter Ustinov, Jonathan Winters, "The Magic Christian," Peter Sellers, Ringo Starr, and other important films.

National General used to operate a theater chain, but lately it has branched out in all directions, including film releasing company. Among its releases: "With Six You Get Egg Roll," Doris Day, Brian Keith; "The Stalking Moon," Gregory Peck, Eva Marie Saint; "April Fool," Jack Lemmon, Catharine Deneuve.

Cinerama formerly made wide-screen spectacles for its own theaters; now it releases movies as well. Among them: "Candy," "The Killing of Sister George," "Hell in the Pacific," "Charly."

Change Seen

The emergence of these three releasing companies and others like them represents a striking change in film merchandising.

During the Golden Era of the 1930s, the distribution of movies was a tight operation. Everything was controlled by the five majors—Paramount, M.G.M., Fox, RKO, Warner Brothers—three minors—Columbia, Universal, United Artists—with the leftovers handled by Republic and Monogram. In the postwar period, the three minors became majors, RKO and Republic disappeared, and Monogram became Allied Artists. Walt Disney started Buena Vista to release his own films.

Control of film releasing remained in the hands of a few companies. Producers complained about excessive charges for distribution, as well as inability of the companies to merchandise films intended for special audiences.

Nowadays a host of releasing companies can offer the film maker lower distribution fees than those charged by the majors. And there is the promise of special campaigns for films not aimed at the mass market.

Some of the other releasing companies:

Avco Embassy, the Joseph Levine operation which prospered with "The Graduate" and "The Lion in Winter"; Continental, which has succeeded with offbeat pictures from "Room at the Top" to "Faces"; Cinema V, specializing in art house films like "Elvira Madigan" and "The Two of Us"; Grove Press' Evergreen, now enjoying a bonanza with "I Am Curious (Yellow)"; American International, which has catered to the teen trade, first with beach parties and Poe, now with motercycles and sex.

Still Problems

And there are many more.

Cliff Robertson has good reason to favor the new system. "I spent seven years trying to get a releasing company to back 'Charly,'" said the Oscar winner. "The old-line companies wouldn't touch it. I couldn't make a deal until a new distributor—National General—came along with a fresh approach and a willingness to take a risk."

But another film maker with a still-unreleased movie countered:

"Even the new distributors are tied down to old-fashioned thinking. I warn them that my picture doesn't have sex or the usual selling elements. They like it, but they say they don't know how to sell it."

"When I suggest that it can be sold by involving schools and clubs, they say, 'But that's work!' So I think I'll release it myself."

Band Will March

MANAWA — The high school band will march in the 1 p.m. Pulaski Polka Festival Parade Sunday.

Attic Theatre's opening play for the summer season is the Ruth Gordon comedy "Years Ago." In this scene are actors James Parker, left, Marilyn Auer, Curtis Brown and Margaret Heyn in a scene that's pleasantly funny because of their characterizations. The play opens

Saturday and runs through Thursday, July 3, with no Monday performances. The place is the Experimental Theater in Lawrence Music-Drama Center; curtain time is 8:15 p.m., except 7:15 p.m. Sundays. (Post-Crescent Photo)

To Your Good Health

'Twilight Sleep' Is A Light Anesthesia

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please explain the purpose of "twilight sleep." Is it the same as shock treatment, or is it a different kind of treatment for mental patients? I don't think I ever heard of it being used for mental problems. Mrs. C.M. any danger of transmitting TB by drinking from the same container?

He is a veteran and goes to the hospital for frequent examinations, but I have no way of being sure he isn't still carrying the disease. — Mrs. C.T.

"Twilight sleep" is a very light anesthesia, used for various purposes, among them for childbirth.

It is also used, however, for dental extractions, minor short operations, and the like — and sometimes for treating mentally ill patients.

It is not "shock treatment," and distinctly unlike it. "Twilight sleep" is administered by giving a short-acting anesthetic, usually by injecting it into a vein.

Shock treatment (called by various terms, including "E.C.T." or electro-convulsive therapy) is a matter of applying a measured and controlled electric current.

Its intended purpose is to break up emotional patterns which are bothering a patient mentally.

Doctor: It was my great good fortune to recently be treated for chronic prostatitis. It is my observation that your column would do immeasurable good for marriage and family life if you discussed this illness. — F.B.E.

How true! And such a common problem in males that I'd be discussing it every other day. So that's why I put it into booklet form, "The Pesky Prostate," so readers can get it when or if this particular trouble attacks them. To get a copy promptly, send 25 cents to cover printing and handling, and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr. Thosteson, care of The Post-Crescent.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: A friend of my husband who says he has had tuberculosis but is now cured gave my 3-year-old son a bottle of soda pop from which he had been drinking. Is there

I'm not in favor of letting babies drink out of bottles, cups or glasses used by anybody else. However, as to TB in particular, a great deal more of the disease is spread by people who don't know they have it than by patients who have been properly treated.

No well-run hospital will let a patient go until his sputum is negative — that is, contains no TB germs. Then periodic tests are required to be sure that his condition stays that way, both for his own sake and that of others. It's an excellent sign that he goes back for regular examination, and I doubt that you need have any fear of TB so far as he is concerned.

If you are still worried, you can ask your doctor to give the youngster a tuberculin test, that is, a skin test to show whether he has ever been exposed to TB.

Dear D. Thosteson: If a person had diseased tonsils or adenoids causing bad breath, wouldn't the person actually be unconscious of it, so used to the odor that he wouldn't notice it? I think many people worry about bad breath because they think they don't know. Do you know what your breath smells like? — C.

Your point is usually valid. If a person has chronic bad breath, it is a kindness for someone close to him to say so.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Kuhn Forces Break-Up of Baseball-Las Vegas Ties

Bartholomay, Finley Expected To Sell Their Stock in Firm That Owns Gambling Casinos

By JAMES R. POLK

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn has moved in to force a breakup of ties between two major league teams and Las Vegas casinos.

A formal announcement of Kuhn's action was set here today after a month's probe of stock holdings by top officials of the Atlanta Braves and Oakland Athletics in the gambling business.

Delbert W. Coleman, chairman of Parvin-Dohrmann Co. which owns three hotels and casinos, is slated to bow out as a director of the Braves, officials disclosed Thursday.

Three other baseball figures, including Braves President William C. Bartholomay and Oakland owner Charles O. Finley, will stay in the sport, but are expected to scrap their ties with Parvin-Dohrmann.

Kuhn's move came while pro football is also entangled in a betting controversy over Commissioner Pete Rozelle's demand that New York Jets quarterback Joe Namath sell a bar allegedly used by gamblers. Namath vowed to retire from football instead.

Baseball traditionally has frowned on any ties with gambling since a World Series scandal in 1919.

Coleman, reached in New York, said the owners had volunteered to end the double duty by three Braves executives on the boards of directors of both the club and Parvin-Dohrmann.

Coleman, while quitting the baseball board, will keep his estimated $18 million in stock in the firm, which owns the Stardust, Fremont and Aladdin casinos in Las Vegas. Coleman personally owns another firm which leases and operates two of the casinos.

Bartholomay and another Braves executive, John J. Louis Jr., are slated to resign from the Parvin-Dohrmann board, officials said.

Sources in both the business world and the government's stock market watchdog, the Securities and Exchange Commission, said Finley, Bartholomay and Louis were expected to have to sell their Parvin-Dohrmann stock.

Finley, reached in Chicago, said, "I have no comment on anything."

Bartholomay and Louis own only a relatively small 2,000 shares each. Finley bought 30,000 shares valued at $2.7 million in April. Coleman controls 207,000 shares.

Kuhn began his probe of the baseball involvement after The Associated Press made public the stock ties of the Braves and Athletics owners a month ago.

A source in the SEC, which has been investigating Parvin-Dohrmann, said the Namath controversy "put the heat on baseball."

"They really couldn't take a weaker position," he said.

President Watches Orioles Win Seventh Game in Succession

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

Richard Nixon was the people's choice in 1968 but he's not lining up bipartisan support from a certain group of Washington Senators in 1969.

The President showed up at Robert F. Kennedy Stadium with daughter Julie and son-in-law David Eisenhower Thursday night, just in time to see the baseball-playing Senators blow a 2-0 decision to the red-hot Baltimore Orioles.

It was Mr. Nixon's third trip to the ballpark to root, root, root for the home team and the third time he's struck out. That might be party politics, as far as Bob Short, owner of the Senators and treasurer of the Democratic National Committee, is concerned, but it's no way to treat a loyal supporter like Manager Ted Williams, who voted for Mr. Nixon last November.

In other American League activity, the Boston Red Sox blanked Cleveland 3-0, the New York Yankees downed Detroit 5-3, Minnesota flattened California 8-1 and the Chicago White Sox outlasted Seattle 13-10. Kansas City and Oakland were not scheduled.

Nixon Delayed

President Nixon was delayed in leaving for the ballpark by a news conference and didn't get there until the eighth inning. Jim Hannan had blanked the Orioles for seven innings but tired and gave way to Dennis Higgins to start the eighth.

Higgins was in hot water immediately. Don Buford doubled, Paul Blair beat out a bunt and slugging Frank Robinson was advancing to the bat, which was bad enough. Then the President made his entrance.

Home plate umpire John Flaherty held up the game until Mr. Nixon's party was seated. Williams ordered his infield to play back and Robinson bounced into a double play as Buford scored.

That was all Dave McNally needed as he hurled a two-hitter for his 10th victory and the Orioles' seventh in a row. Baltimore pushed across an insurance run in the ninth on Brooks Robinson's double, a wild pitch and Dave Johnson's sacrifice fly.

McNally yielded only leadoff singles to Tim Cullen in the third and Paul Casanova in the ninth.

Really Pulling
"The President was really pulling hard for us," reported Short, who sat in the presidential box. "He told me, 'You've got to win this one.' He was really cheering and said he

George Archer, Rodgers Share Lead in Kemper

70 Break Par In First Round; Palmer Takes 73

By BOB GREEN
CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Gangling George Archer ambled in with an early 67, felt a freshening breeze in his face and shouted, "Blow, you beauty, blow."

It did, but not enough to keep big George alone at the top in the first round of the $150,000 Kemper Open Golf Tournament Thursday.

Paunchy Phil Rodgers, a non-winner since 1966 who was using a new putter and a new putting style, survived the gusty winds and matched Archer's five-under-par effort for a share of the lead going into today's second round on the 7,295 yard, par 72 Quail Hollow Country Club course.

But their lead was far from secure, with 47 players locked within four strokes of each other. In fact, almost half the field of 144-70-matched or bettered par on the long layout.

Bob Goalby
The closest are New Zealand lefty Bob Charles, former Masters champ Bob Goalby, Jim Colbert and Bob McCallister.

All but McCallister played before the winds sent scores up. "This is the kind of course that isn't too hard to make pars on," said Goalby, "but it's not too easy to make birdies on."

Arnold Palmer didn't make a one, en route to a 73, far, far back in the field. U.S. Open champ Orville Moody had a 72, also well back.

The group at 69 was made up of Bruce Devlin, Doug Sanders, Tom Weiskopf, Mason Rudolph, Dale Douglass and Bob Payne.

Among the 17 players at 70 were Lee Trevino, South African

Pressure Off Now That He Turned Pro, Says Lew Alcindor

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The National Basketball Association's top draft choice—Lew Alcindor—says the pressure is off of him now that he has turned pro.

"Everyone realizes that this is the NBA and people realize this is the best competition—the toughest league and the toughest division (Eastern) of that league," the Milwaukee Bucks rookie said Thursday. "So I don't think that too many people will be disappointed if we don't win every game."

The addition of the 7-foot-2, three-time UCLA All-American has propelled the Bucks into play-off contention in only their second year in the league. Last season, the Bucks finished last in the Eastern Division, then won a toss with Phoenix for the right to draft first.

Milwaukee took Alcindor, in town for tonight's opening of the Bucks' rookie camp.

Intrasquad Game
The camp, which runs through Monday, will be highlighted by an intrasquad game in the Milwaukee Arena Sunday night. A capacity crowd is expected.

Appearing on television, Alcindor said the NBA's 82-game schedule probably would not cause him to change the pace he set at college.

"It's going to be a lot easier of me from a mental standpoint," Alcindor said of the pro game. "I won't be having to go to school. There will be only basketball."

The New York native, who signed a reputed $1.4 million contract with the Bucks, making him the highest-paid rookie in any sport, has been lifting weights in order to build up his strength so that he can compete with Boston's Bill Russell, Los Angeles' Wilt Chamberlain and other top NBA centers.

Richie Guerin, coach of the Atlanta Hawks, said recently that he believed Alcindor might not be heavy enough to battle under the basket. Chamberlain, for example, weighs around 300 pounds.

"If I gain weight it means many more pounds I'd have to carry up and down the court," Alcindor said. "So I've been working with weights to give me the necessary added strength."

"I'm going to try and get stronger, but not by gaining any weight. It is a matter of strength rather than weight. I weigh between 230 and 235 pounds," he said.

KP-Legion Wins, 1-0, on Kiley 1-Hitter
Terry Kiley pitched a 1-hitter, and KP-Legion (2-1) scored all of its runs in a big fifth inning for an 11-0 victory over Hahn's Lanes (1-5) Wednesday night in a Southern Division game of the Appleton Babe Ruth League.

Kiley allowed only two Hahn's baserunners in the 7-inning game. Tom Sommers singled to center for the lone Hahn's safety and Mike Rector walked.

KP Legion sent 15 batters to the plate in the fifth inning outburst. Bruce Kasten was charged with the loss.

Hawks, Bucks to Play Exhibition Tilt in St. Louis
ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Atlanta Hawks, former National Basketball Association tenants in Milwaukee, will meet the Bucks, present Milwaukee entry, the Bucks, in an exhibition game here Nov. 25, it was announced Thursday.

The game is to be a charity affair with the proceeds going to the St. Louis Globe-Democrat and St. Louis Post-Dispatch charities.

The Hawks moved to St. Louis from Milwaukee, then after the 1967-68 season, to Atlanta.

2 Green Bay Teams Triumph in Kaukauna

KAUKAUNA — Green Bay's Softball Tournament Thursday night. Limited teams emerged with victories in first round games at the Kaukauna Athletic Club.

Both winners grabbed 1-run triumphs. Dickenson Heating nudged cross-town rival, Military Golfand, 3-2, while Van-Limited nipped Appleton Maritime Bar, 2-1.

Milwaukee Raabe Paint also advanced when Fond du Lac Larry Duke Distributors forfeited.

Dickenson had originally been slated to face Kaukauna Joyce & Tugger's. However, the schedule was shuffled because some of the teams entered in the Kaukauna tourney are still competing in the rain-delayed Whitelaw meet.

"Porky" Gilles pitched a 5-hitter for Dickenson, besting Military's Tom Lemorande, who allowed seven hits in taking the loss.

Glen Brown's pitching led the Van-Limited victory. Ed Simonson was the loser.

The tournament continues tonight.

Appleton defeated Kaukauna, 12-1, at Goodland Field Thursday night to boost its Southern Division, Fox Valley Legion League record to 2-1. Kaukauna is now 1-2.

Dwight Mueller, the winning pitcher, allowed six hits — four of them by Jon Pendleton. Mueller struck out 16 and walked six.

Al Borchardt, the loser, allowed 14 hits, fanned three and walked none.

Pete Kliefoth paced the winners, with four hits in five trips. Grad Graff rapped three hits while Steve Krueger and Mueller had two apiece.

Appleton plays host to Shawano at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Goodland Field.

State Will Alter Deer Harvest Plan in Bayfield Area
MADISON (AP)—The Natural Resources Board said Saturday it will drop a previously recommended deer harvest for Managament Unit 3 in northern Bayfield County.

Winter losses in the herd, combined with reduced reproductive capacity due to the weakened condition of the surviving does, will mean a bucks-only season, the department said.

Outlook for Weekend Fishing

Cabernet County — Warden Richard Strong: Lake Winnebago producing some fine walleyes. The Wolf river below the dam is producing some nice catches of crappies and bluegills. Northern and head and Becker lakes. Water normal.

Winnebago County — Warden Frank Deringer, William Laut and Roland Lee: Panfish activity good on Lakes Winnebago, Poygan and Butte des Morts.

Large perch being taken on these lakes as well as some being taken on Lake Winnebago. Walleyes good on Lakes Poygan and Winnebago; walleyes good but spotty trolling on reefs west side of Lake Winnebago. Northerns good on Lakes Poygan, Winnebago and Butte des Morts. White bass good but spotty on all waters. Increased success on catfish on all waters. Water normal.

Fond du Lac County — Warden Melvin Lange: Panfishing continues to be very good in Long, Mauthe and Mud lakes; use worms or poppers in shallow waters. White bass and walleye fair to good on Lake Winnebago. Perch still not active on the big lake. Bass fishing slow in area waters. Water level normal.

Waupaca County — Warden Rex Oatman, Jack Kunath and Lawrence McKevitt: Some white bass still hitting on Wolf river, artificial baits good in the shallow water. Northerns hitting on live bait in Iowa millpond. Panfishing best on Partridge, Partridge Crop and Bear lakes. Water normal.

Sheboygan County — Warden Glen Popple: Good catches of bluegills being made in most waters. Northerns biting fair at Crooked lake, live bait best. Some good crappies and northerns being taken at Kiel marsh.

Waushara County — Warden William Baier: Trout fishing on streams good. Fly hatches occurring on most streams. One seven pound brown trout taken in the White river at Watoma in the past week. Pearl and Pleasant lakes and Fish lake at Hancock producing some nice bluegills. Water normal.

Shawano County — Warden William Hoyt: Panfish continue to provide the most action. Nice catches of bluegills and perch coming from Shawano, Lion, Washington and White Clay lagoes.

Manitowish County — Warden Darwin Krall: Gold Cles are producing good catches of lake trout along Lake Michigan shores at Two Creeks. Five to seven pound brown trout are also being taken on Cles off the Two Rivers and Manitowish piers. Some panfish and northern activity on Tuma, Long and Wilke lakes. Large catches of bullheads reported by fishermen along the Manitowish river. Water levels normal.

Kewaunee County — Warden Philip Hein: Some good catches of browns taken this week along Lake Michigan shoreline. Rainbows and lake trout slow. Bass and panfish hitting good in East Alaska and West Alaska lakes and in Bolt lake area. Streams and lakes normal.

Oconto County — Warden Russell Christensen and Earl Piper: Trout very good hitting flies and bait; several 4 to 5 pound browns taken from Oconto river in Suring area. Panfish good. Bluegills hitting Boot, Boulder and Mary lakes and Oconto Falls pond. Perch good off Oconto breakwater. Bass fair; some nice ones from Chute pond and Mary lake. Other species slow. Water slightly high.

Mayville '9' Nips Sheboygan in 12th
MAYVILLE — A 2-out, bases-loaded walk to Tom Herman forced in the winning run in the bottom of the 12th inning, as Mayville edged Sheboygan, 6-7, in a Southern Division, Section 1 game in the Valley Legion League Thursday.

The base on balls was allowed by Tom Decker, who had relieved Mike Brott. Brott had retired the first two men of the inning, but then Mayville started its winning rally.

Now...a portable fishing motor the rest of the family can ski with

Sportster "25" — Evinrude's new high performance fishing-skiing motor. 25 horsepower. Just 81 lbs. electric starting available at any time

The 25 hp Evinrude Sportster weighs just 81 lbs. A man can lift it, load it, carry it, and clamp it on a boat.

It's small enough to fit, fuel tank and all, in the trunk of a standard size car.

It will drive a fast fishing boat to far-off fishing grounds at better than 30 miles an hour. Then throttle down and chuckle along by the hour at dead slow trolling speed. In pairs, it makes a great off-shore combination.

When the fish aren't biting, it will ski a pair of youngsters as fast as they dare to go. It will pop an adult slalom skier out of deep water and tow him fast enough for real skiing fun.

It will plane a family runabout with a family load aboard.

Sportster comes complete with all the de-luxe Evinrude features. Sound-deadened quiet Sea-tight powerhead. Thermostat. Shock-mounted propeller.

Gearshift. Plug-in tank with built-in fuel gauge. And your choice of high speed or high thrust (ski) propeller. It's engineered for stick steering or full remote operation. Key turn starting and remote electric choke can be added anytime.

It has power, portability, and versatility. A real lack-of-all Sports motor that has an economical way with fuel, and delivers at a bare-bones budget price.

Carlos Looks to Sub-9-Second 100-Yard Dash

NCAA Track Meet Underway; Ryun Lags Mile

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Super sprinter John Carlos says he's talking to the professional football people because "I'll tell you honestly. I'm out for the money."

But before that day comes, the young man who stirred controversy and was sent home after his black-fisted salute in the Olympics is thinking of today and his special goal: Running the world's first 100-yard dash in under nine seconds.

"If I get a good start tomorrow the record's gonna go," the San Jose State star said after "easing off" and winning his 100-yard heat as the NCAA championships opened Thursday.

"Eight-something's gonna come, and you can quote me on that," Carlos said. Villanova's Erv Hall, who equalled the world record in the 120-yard high hurdles with a 13.2 clocking, was as surprised about his race as Carlos was brash.

Look Decent "I sure didn't think it was a 13.2," Hall said afterwards. "I had it figured at about 13.4. I didn't feel I was in that good shape—I just wanted to look decent."

Villanova, paced by Hall's qualification after an injury-plagued season and a trio of milers who also advanced, loomed as top challenger to favored Kansas and San Jose State after one day of action.

Kansas miler Jim Ryun, running just hard enough to qualify, came from last to first in the last quarter and trotted across the line at 4:03.4.

Asked why he lagged behind, Ryun, who holds the world mark of 3:51.1, said, "I can sprint better the last half than the first half, and in qualifying you don't usually have to worry about controlling the race."

"But I won't be able to do that in the finals."

The only final event held Thursday was the six-mile run, and Frank Shorter of Yale covered the grueling distance in 29:00.2. It was the first time he'd ever run the event.

Besides the featured 100-yard dash, finals were set today in the hammer throw, long jump, shot put, 120-yard high hurdles and 3,000-yard steeplechase.

Omro Gets Board Approval New 8-School Area Conference Will Begin Competition in 1970-1

NEW LONDON — A new athletic conference, comprising current Mid-Eastern, Central Wisconsin, Little Nine and Little Ten teams, will begin play in 1970-71.

The decision was made this week at a meeting of school officials and athletic directors here. Omro High School officials had to report back to the board of education and receive approval for beginning of play a year hence. Originally, the plan was for starting play in 1971-2.

More immediate action was dictated for New London as Fox Cities Schools in the M-E notified other teams they would drop out at the end of the 1969-70 school year to form the Fox Valley (or Fox Cities) Association.

Schools in the yet-unnamed conference are New London, Waupaca, Weyauwega, Hortonville, Winneconne, Omro, Ripon and Berlin.

In the event Omro could not have started play in 1970, Clintonville, another Mid-Eastern Conference school, would have been sought as a conference member.

Omro will go along with the new conference schedule, beginning in 1970, school authorities reported Thursday.

All teams will remain in their present conferences for one more year.

Canadian Gridders Still Voice Financial Demands

CALGARY (AP) — A dispute who made the Stampeders' final roster.

which led to a three-day boycott of the Toronto Argonauts' training camp by 17 players this week has been settled, but a similar demand for higher pre-season expenses still faces another Canadian Football League team—the Calgary Stampeders.

The Argonaut players agreed to join the club's training camp after John Bassett, chairman of the club's board of directors, promised to "personally sit down and negotiate with them" on a new deal in training camp for the 1970 season.

But in Calgary, player spokesman Terry Evanshen talked about not signing contracts if the club does not come up with a decision soon to demands by veteran players for training camp expenses that would amount to $500 for each player

Evanshen said the Calgary players also have asked for other fringe benefits, including purchase of football shoes by the club instead of the players and payment for personal appearances arranged by the club.

The Stampeders' 1969 training camp is due to open Sunday.

State Assembly Is Key to Constitutional Convention

Dirksen Pushing Legislatures For Amendment to Overrule One-Man, One-Vote Decision

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The key to whether the nation will have its first constitutional convention since the Founding Fathers met in the "Grand Convention" of 1787 appears to be in the hands of the Wisconsin legislature.

Legislatures of 33 states already have adopted resolutions petitioning Congress to call a convention aimed at overturning a 1964 Supreme Court decision requiring a one-man, one-vote basis for apportioning state legislatures.

Action by only one more state would invoke Article V of the Constitution, which provides that upon application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the states Congress shall call a convention for the purpose of proposing amendments.

Uphill Fight
An Associated Press survey spotlights the Wisconsin legislature as the one where the chances of putting the move over are best, although the resolution faces an uphill fight.

Two years ago the Wisconsin Senate passed a resolution asking for a constitutional convention on the reapportionment issue, but the measure died in the Assembly.

This year, in a shift in strategy, the resolution is starting out in the Assembly. If it can be

Constitutional Amendment Assembly Seeks Election of Judges

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — In a turnabout fashion, the state Assembly Thursday resurrected and approved a call for a constitutional convention designed to provide for the election of all federal judges from the Supreme Court on down.

In an almost straight party line vote, the lower house erased its action of two weeks ago and approved by a 52-47 margin the call authored by Assembly Speaker Harold V. Froehlich, R-Appleton.

Backers of the move gained support by pointing to the decision of U.S. Federal Judge Myron Gordon in Wisconsin's eastern judicial district dropping federal charges against 10 of the "Milwaukee 14 draft-record burners."

Gordon maintained that the men could not get a fair trial because of extreme and hostile press coverage. They had earlier been convicted on criminal charges in state court.

School Cases
They also cited similarly unpopular decisions handed down by Federal Judge James Doyle of Wisconsin's western district involving school discipline cases.

Foes of the measure, which had been defeated on a 53-44 vote on June 5, claimed that the call would gut the federal judicial system in the country and lay the entire U.S. Constitution open to attack.

The reversal came with only two members of each party straying from their party's position.

Froehlich termed Doyle "a perfect example of a judge who is out of time" with the tune of the country and said that if he were forced to stand for election "he'd get clobbered."

But the problem, said Froehlich, is not just the decisions of judges like Gordon or Doyle. It is in a system which allows men to be appointed to life-time terms on a bench without being subject to later review by the voters.

Termed Radical
Assemblyman Frederick Kessler, D-Milwaukee, termed the suggestion "radical" and said that it would threaten the independence of the court system.

Froehlich, said Kessler, had an opportunity to oppose the appointments of Doyle and Gordon before the U.S. Senate during confirmation proceedings and did not bother to do so.

"The radicals of the Republican Party are in control and they have succeeded in whipping everyone into line," said Kessler as the Assembly agreed to re-open the question on which many Republicans had opposed their Speaker's position two weeks earlier.

Endanger Rights
Kessler warned that passage of the Froehlich proposal might be considered approval of a general call for a constitutional convention in line with the Dirksen Amendment which needs just one more state to gain passage.

Such a convention would endanger the entire Bill of Rights, said Kessler.

The Dirksen Amendment, already approved by 33 states, is scheduled for a hearing by the

Efforts Start To Clear River After Oil Leak

Ruptured Barge Towed From Near Village of Alma

ALMA (AP) — Houghtland Towing Co.'s barge No. 902 started its trip back to Paducah, Ky., Thursday, leaving thousands of gallons of oil in its wake on the upper Mississippi River.

Cleanup operations were underway to try to get rid of about 64,000 gallons of No. 2 diesel oil that burst from the barge's ruptured compartments when it struck a submerged wing dam Monday.

Oil continued to seep from the vessel until it was partially sunk Wednesday, trapping the remaining oil above the holes in the barge's hull. The liquid was pumped into another barge Thursday.

30 Per Cent Hike Army Desertions Expected To Top 50,000 This Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army says it expects 50,000 soldiers will have deserted by the end of the current fiscal year, an increase of nearly 30 per cent over 1968.

In testimony released today, Lt. Gen. A. O. Conner, Army deputy chief of staff for personnel, told the House defense appropriations subcommittee, the jump in the number of soldiers going over the hill is the result of:

Getting more kooks into the faction and undisciplined personnel.

"We have opened up a training facility at Ft. Riley, Kan., he said. "This is a rehabilitation type facility where we're having pretty good luck in taking a young man who has gone AWOL two or three times, put him under the right kind of leadership and right kind of trainers, and we have turned them into useful soldiers."

Ad. Davis said "It has become apparent over the past few years that there has been an increase in the use of illegal and dangerous drugs by members of the Navy."

"To combat this situation, a widespread education program has been initiated, and, at the same time, the intensity of investigation into drug abuse has been increased."

Conner also touched on the unrest on some college campuses concerning military training program.

He said the Army is moving to meet some student objections by dropping nonproductive drill sessions and adding additional "academic-type subjects to make it more palatable."

Garden Packed To Hear Graham

NEW YORK (AP) — More than 156,000 persons have flocked to Billy Graham's New York Crusade since it opened on week ago.

They came to Madison Square Garden in an average of 200 chartered buses each night, and by car, subway and the trains which rumble into Penn Station in the basement of the Garden.

Although 85 per cent come from the metropolitan area, there have been delegations from 10 states. One group came from London.

Thursday night's crowd, which spilled into the Felt Forum, on the floor beneath the Garden's main auditorium, and into another auditorium a block away, was the largest to date — more than 25,000.

Why do they come? Most pause and reflect before answering.

"To refresh my spiritual life," said Raymond Hildebrand, 19, a high school pupil from Milford, Conn. "It's sort of a spiritual restaurant."

A freckle-faced blonde, Nanette Goddard, 17, Malvern, Long Island, came with her soldier boyfriend "just to hear a fantastic Christian speaker."

Problem Alarming

"It is actually alarming," Davis said during the closed hearings held last March. The problem is most severe in Vietnam, he said, "and that makes it worse because particularly in the Marine Corps, and with the use of marijuana, it distorts your judgment and you can see what it might do on a patrol to a man who perhaps is not well grounded."

Conner, who said the 50,000 figure was a projection based on the first quarter of the fiscal year ending June 30, also stated that over 500 soldiers deserted to foreign nations.

"In this group," he testified, "that are deserting to foreign countries it runs the gamut from the extreme pacifist to the no-good drug addict who is just trying to escape."

The general said that although the increase in desertions is cause for concern, the figures are still far lower than during World War II and the Korean War.

Deserters Misfits
Typical deserters, Conner said, are not philosophical or religious war objectors, but misfits "who because they cannot get satisfaction from their commander on the ground or because the commander is not far enough along in his development to handle their problems, who will take off and go AWOL."

Conner said the Army has established a program to help overcome the problems of dissatisfied soldiers.

The Fox Cities Daily Market Guide for New and Used Cars

Friday, June 20, 1968 The Post-Crescent 8 13

This Volkswagen dealer will stake his reputation on his Fords.

We have to. We can't afford to have it said you drove off with a lemon. So every Ford (or Plymouth or Chevy) we get in trade on a new VW gets a 16-point inspection. If it passes we guarantee the free repair or replacement of every major working part* for 30 days or 1000 miles. Whichever comes first. (If it doesn't pass, we won't guarantee it until we fix what needs fixing.)

Here are some of our reputation-stakers:

Dave McNally Boosts Year's Record to 10-0

based Frank Howard would get up in the ninth. He felt pretty bad that we couldn't win with him here."

The White Sox got three runs on a freak play to turn back Seattle. They had just tied the score 10-10 in the last of the seventh and had the bases loaded with one out. Reliever Bob Locker uncorked a wild pitch as the go-ahead run crossed and when catcher Gerry McNerney's return throw sailed into right field the other two runners also scored.

Carlos May and Bill Melton homered for the Sox while McNerney had a homer and five runs batted in for the Pilots.

Boston's Ray Culp also hurled a two-hitter against Cleveland as he halted a skid which had seen the Red Sox lose five of six games. A two-run homer in the first by Carl Yastrzemski, his 19th, helped Culp to his 10th victory.

The right-hander yielded only a pair of pinch singles, by Lou Klimchick in the third and Lee Maye in the fifth. The game was delayed by rain after the second and fourth innings.

Throwing Error

Detroit pitcher Earl Wilson's throwing error on Jerry Kenney's high bouncer in the second inning allowed three runs to score as the Yankees tripped the Tigers. Gene Michael and Jake Gibbs, who singled, and Horace Clarke, who walked, all scampered across the plate as Wilson's hurried throw skipped past first baseman Norm Cash.

Stan Bahnsen, 4-9, ended the route for New York. Dick McAuliffe homered in the ninth for Detroit's final run.

Minnesota's Dick Woodson, helped by five unearned runs, limited California to three hits and pitched the Twins to within two percentage points of Oakland in the AL West. Jim Fregosi's fifth homer was the only damaging blow off the rookie right-hander.

KAC Girls Team Meets Milwaukee

KAUKAUNA — The Kaukauna Athletic Club Girls Softball team, sporting a 6-1 record, will clash with a Milwaukee squad in a doubleheader beginning at 1:30 p.m. Sunday at the Doty Baygreen Recreation Area.

The lone defeat came at the hands of the Milwaukee squad in the season's opener. Since then, Kaukauna have taken two straight from the "Beer City" crew. Other Kaukauna victims have been Eau Claire and Beloit, both in doubleheaders.

Scheduled for mound duties Sunday are Lindy Kemp and Sharon Plott.

Rams Acquire Karl Sweetan From Saints

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Rams have added a third quarterback to their National Football League roster — Karl Sweetan of the New Orleans Saints. In exchange, New Orleans later will get two college draft choices.

Sweetan, 26, will contest his former Detroit teammate, Milt Plum, for the No. 2 quarterback role behind Los Angeles starter Roman Gabriel.

Sweetan, 6-1 and 205 pounds from Wake Forest, has been in the NFL since 1966. He was a starter for the Lions in 1966 and was traded to the Saints last year. He was Bill Kilmer's backup for New Orleans.

The Rams announced the deal Thursday. Los Angeles Coach George Allen said he's always been impressed with Sweetan's strong arm. "In fact, I voted for him as Rookie of the Year in 1966," Allen said.

homer in the seventh for a 4-3 lead.

Jim Grant pitched 5 1-3 scoreless innings of relief against his former teammates for the victory in the afternoon contest.

Bobby Tolan's three-run homer highlighted a four-run Cincinnati burst in the eighth inning that put Cincinnati ahead 7-6, but Bobby Bonds drove in a run in the bottom of the eighth for a tie.

Then Tony Perez singled and May got his fourth hit, opening the ninth, and Helms doubled to break the deadlock.

Willie McCovey drove in three runs for San Francisco with a single and his 22nd homer, despite the four-man outfield the Reds again used against him in another day game.

Wilson, 6-6, drove in the run he needed with a sacrifice fly that capped a three-run second inning and he went on to divide early hits as Houston sent the Padres to their fourth loss in a row and eighth in nine starts. Wilson struck out 10 and walked two.

Archer, at 6-foot-6 the tallest man on the tour, is shooting for his third tournament title of the year. He won the Crosby and the Masters.

"I had a long layoff after the Masters," he said. "But this is my third tournament in a row. Maybe that's the reason I'm playing better."

"I really didn't play too well last week in the (U.S.) Open. I hit maybe one bad shot out of four. But, you know, sometimes you have the feeling that your game is coming on. I felt that."

"Now I'm hitting the ball real good, much more solid." He and Rodgers, a stubby, 5-foot-10, 180 pounder, had six birdies and a single bogey in their rounds.

An ABA official admitted late Thursday night "that if we lost Connie we would be in trouble. He's one of our three top draws, the others being Rick Barry, who jumped from the NBA to Oakland of the ABA and Mel Daniels."

The Pipers could also be hurt. They are trying to move to an Eastern city and Pipers' President Bill Erickson says the team lost $300,000 a year ago. Final deadline for the sale is Monday.

A syndicate headed by part-owner Gabe Rubin of Pittsburgh has picked up two $50,000 options on a proposed $1.2 million purchase but without Hawkins, Minnesota observers give Rubin little chance of unloading the club.

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee will be the site February and March of the first international speed skating sprint championships.

The meet, scheduled for the weekends of Feb. 21-22 and Feb. 28-March 1, will be televised nationally, according to Phil Krum, president of the United States International Skating Association.

Between 60 and 100 skaters from 14 countries are expected to compete at the Olympic outdoor rink at the state fair park in suburban West Allis.

The 1971 meet will be held in Inzell, Germany, Krumm said.

Co-op Merger May Alter Farmers Views

Viewed in Tour

Dikes, Pumping to Reclaim 90 Acres at Black Creek Farm

A Black Creek farmer has nearly completed a four-year diking and pumping project to reclaim more than 90 acres of land on his farm.

Wilfred Theobald, route 2, described his work to 12 agricultural workers who visited his farm during the recent annual Outagamie Farm Management tour.

Participants in the tour were Russell Luckow, Outagamie County agricultural agent; Gary Blomberg, Outagamie County farm management agent; John Valigia, Freedom High School vocational agriculture instructor; Oliver Lerum and Leonard Warner, Appleton Technical Institute; Walter Klanderma and John Hanson, Fox Valley Farm Management Association; Joe Rickert, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) office manager; Philip Kasperek, Black Creek, ASCS committeeman; and George Berger, Robert Gregory and Clive Hedinger, Farmers Home Administration officers.

Drainage Failure

"The last two years there weren't any crops on most of the land," Theobald said. The land is nearly the same level as Black Creek which flows past it. During rainy weather the land fails to drain and in some cases is flooded by water which spills over creek banks, he said.

More than a mile of ditching has been done since Theobald and Vernon Geiger, Outagamie County soil conservationist, started work on the project. Dikes have been built to prevent the creek from flooding.

The ditches lead water to a storage tank where Theobald plans to install a pump capable of lifting 1,000 gallons per minute over dikes and into Black Creek.

Reserve Space

The tank is a reserve designed to store water permitting operation of an automatic switch to start the pump when water begins to rise, said Theobald.

The tank, which encloses the pump, extends 10 feet above the surface of the ditch and is buried five feet in the ground, he said.

Theobald said the tank will be covered with dirt to provide insulation after the pump is installed.

Added Ditching

Until now, said Theobald, planting was only "hit and miss." Monday he started harvesting alfalfa on 35 acres in the plot which he planted this year.

Theobald plans to install 10, Turn to Page 7, Col. 1

Greenville Grange Plans Dairy Program

GREENVILLE — A dairy program will be presented at the regular meeting of the South Greenville Grange at 8 p.m. Friday, June 27. Ben Wickesberg is chairman, assisted by Merle Anderson, Henry Schaefer and Harold Miller.

Haying is in progress throughout the Fox River Valley despite showers and cool weather. Franklin Becher drives a tractor cutting hay on the farm of Lester Krahn, route 1, Seymour. The alfalfa-brome grass mixture will be used for haylage. (Post-Crescent Photo)

District Contest

8 Outagamie 4-H Members to Enter Antigo Dairy Cattle Judging

Eight Outagamie County 4-H dairy project members will compete in two four-member teams for awards at district 4-H dairy judging contests June 27 at Antigo.

About 500 members will be competing Thursday through June 30 throughout Wisconsin in district contests.

Outagamie County competitors will be junior division, Daniel Stephani, Thomas Rihn, Bruce Wichman, and Darlene Ver Voort. Alternates will be Richard Woldt. Senior division members will be Christine Schaumburg, William Buchmann, Cris Kimbal, Melvon Ver Voort, and alternates Jon Krahn.

Each county is eligible to enter one junior-aged team and one senior-aged team in their respective judging districts, explains Dave Dickson, University Extension dairy specialist.

Rusk County is conducting judging for counties in the northwest part of Wisconsin on June 26 at the county fair grounds in Ladysmith. Dane County is hosting the contests for the southwest and southeast districts on June 30 at the University of Wisconsin Arlington Experimental Farm.

The top two senior teams from each district contest will be eligible to compete for state honors August 13 at the Wisconsin State Fair. The state winner will then represent Wisconsin at the national contest in Columbus, Ohio.

WCAC, WAC Combine in Federation

BY DAVE WEITZ

Post-Crescent Farm Editor

Formation of the Wisconsin Federation of Cooperatives, (WFC), may affect farmers attitudes making them "a part of the economic cycle," according to Glen Anderson, temporary WFC manager.

Anderson said the federation will include both urban and agricultural businesses permitting ideas to be exchanged.

A merger forming the federation was approved Tuesday in Madison by the Wisconsin Council of Agricultural Cooperatives (WCAC) and the Wisconsin Association of Cooperatives (WAC).

Delegates of the WCAC cast 179 of 224 eligible ballots in unanimous approval for the merger. WAC delegates from 112 of 229 eligible voting members okayed consolidation by a vote of 110 to 2.

Executive Panel

A 16-man panel formed of eight members from each organization named a temporary 5-man executive committee which selected Anderson as manager.

The federation will be officially formed July 1 and will represent about 300,000 officers.

Anderson explained the aims of the organization, saying, "We aren't going to forget about our farmers because they are going to be the majority of our members."

Views May Change

He called the federation may be "an effective vehicle," for meaningful dialogue between different sectors of the economy.

The change may occur, he said, because the new federation will encompass not only agricultural business but a variety of urban cooperatives including marketing agencies.

Century Certificates Available to Farmers

Owners of farms or homes which have remained in the same family for more than 100 years are eligible to receive a Century Certificate.

The certificates are presented annually at the State Fair. Deadline for applying for the certificates is July 1. To apply, an abstract or title, land patent or original deed must be presented to the county agent.

Interest Hike Aids Economy, Banker Claims

WASHINGTON (AP) — The bank that started the climb in prime interest rates to a historic high told Congress today its action reduced rather than increased dangers to the economy.

Alfred Brittain III, president of Bankers Trust Co. of New York, testified that "we have prevented our lending capacity from being overrun and have made sure that funds will remain available for the essential needs, above all, of our small businesses and other customers who cannot finance themselves in the securities market."

Bankers Trust was the first to announce an increase June 9 from 7 1/2 to 8 1/2 per cent in the prime rate. Banks across the country quickly followed.

In testimony prepared for the House Banking Committee, Brittain said the bank will continue to finance residential mortgages at 7 1/2 per cent and raise rates to small business borrowers less than the 1 per cent jump in the prime rate charged its biggest and best customers.

The committee opened an investigation of the prime rate increase Thursday with another confrontation between Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., and Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy.

Patman again accused the secretary of conflicts of interest because of continued financial ties with Continental Illinois National Bank of Chicago, which Kennedy formerly headed.

Senate Recommendations Kennedy denied the charges, telling newsmen afterward he arranged his financial affairs in accordance with recommendations of the Senate Finance Committee and is convinced he has no legal or moral conflict.

One of the verbal clashes at the hearing came when Patman asked the Treasury secretary what he did to try to head off or turn back the prime rate increase.

"There was really nothing I could do," Kennedy replied. "There was no legal possibility of rolling back."

Patman continued: "Did you discuss it with the banks?" "No, I did not..." the secretary answered. "I could do more than you did. You shouted from the house tops and nothing happened."

Kennedy said he had talked with bankers, corporation executives and labor groups about the general need to contain inflation. But, he continued, "I have not tried to say 'thou shalt not increase this rate.' I have no right to do this... just to get up on a high pulpit as though I were God and say 'thou shalt not.'"

Pursuing his contention the administration should have taken steps in retaliation for the interest rate increase, Patman said: "What about the President? Can he do something?"

"I suspect you'll have to ask him..." You did, you wrote him a letter," Kennedy said, referring to a message Patman sent President Nixon urging strong steps to force the banks to reduce the interest rates.

"I received no reply from him," Patman said. "I would think you are closer to him than I am."

"I would hope I am..." Kennedy said, drawing laughter from the packed committee hearing room.

Pullout of 250,000 Possible Before 1971

Nixon 'Hopes to Better Timetable' on Vietnam Proposed by Clifford

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's newest comments on U.S. troop withdrawal are being interpreted by some military sources as meaning 250,000 American servicemen could be out of Vietnam by the end of 1970.

Nixon said Thursday "I would hope that we could beat" a timetable proposed by former Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford calling for the pullout of 100,000 troops by this year's end and all U.S. ground combat forces by the close of 1970.

Military sources, after Nixon's news conference, noted the President referred to action already taken to withdraw one-tenth of American fighting forces, meaning the 25,000 who will come out in July and August.

Combat Division

The 25,000 is considered by the administration as the equivalent of a combat division "package," counting support elements.

There are 10 Army and Marine divisions or equivalent in Vietnam. If all these ground combat packages were brought out, it would total about 250,000 men, officials suggest.

That still would leave nearly 300,000 men in Vietnam to provide air, helicopter, artillery and other backup for the South Vietnamese infantry. Gradually, these backup elements would be reduced as the South Vietnamese took over their functions.

Military planners have contended it would take about two years to complete an orderly withdrawal of the roughly 540,000 U.S. troops in Vietnam and huge amounts of equipment and supplies, other than what would be left behind for the South Vietnamese.

As for further withdrawals after the first 25,000, Nixon said "another decision will be made in August."

The number, the President said, "will depend upon the extent of the training of the South Vietnamese, as well as developments in Paris, and the other factors that I have mentioned previously."

One such factor would be the level of enemy military activity. Nixon told the nation "there is no substantial evidence, publicly," that the time has come for substantive negotiations with the enemy in Paris, where the peace talks are in a virtual stalemate.

Not Pessimistic However, the President said he is not pessimistic about the outcome and said "we hope within the next two or three months to see some progress."

Thinking has been in terms of removing possibly up to 70,000 troops, overall, by the first of next year. Nixon's remarks opened the prospect of raising the goal to 100,000 or more this year.

Nixon rejected Clifford's implication that the United States is at the present time responsible for the level of fighting.

"It takes two in order to reduce the level of fighting," Nixon said, adding a suggestion that if the enemy would match the U.S. troop withdrawal "that would tend to reduce the level of fighting."

Nixon had some tart comments on the record of the Johnson administration and Clifford, though he said "I respect his judgment as a former secretary of defense."

The President put it this way: "I would point out, however, that for five years the administration in which he was secretary of defense in the last part of the war, we had 500,000 Americans in Vietnam; we had 35,000 killed; we had over 200,000 injured."

"And, in addition to that, we found that in the year, the full year, in which he was secretary of defense, our casualties were the highest of the whole five-year period and, as far as negotiations were concerned, all that had been accomplished... was that we had agreed on the shape of the table."

"This is not to say that Mr. Clifford's present judgment is not to be considered because of the past record. It does indicate, however, that he did have a chance in this particular respect, and did not move on it then."

Asked whether he had any comment to offer, Clifford replied: "None."

"I said all I had to say," Clifford added, referring to his 21-page article on the war.

Campers Plan On Chilly Night

Fox Cities — Fair and quite cool tonight, sunny and warmer Saturday. Low tonight near 39, high near 68. Wind light and variable tonight and Saturday. Precipitation less than 10 per cent tonight and Saturday.

Appleton — Observations at 9:30 a.m. for the preceding 24 hours: high 65, low 48. Barometer 30.09 and rising. Wind north-northeast at 7 m.p.h. Humidity 69 per cent. Dew point 43. Skies partly cloudy. A trace of precipitation.

Sun sets at 8:41 p.m., sun rises Saturday at 5:09 a.m. Moon sets at 12:16 a.m.

When asked to assess the troubled economy, the chief executive said actions taken by his administration "will begin to have effect within a matter of two to three months" in cooling off the inflation spiral. But he added, rather ominously:

"If our projection proves to be wrong, then we will have to look to other courses of action, because we cannot allow prices to continue to go up, interest to go up, and the other factors... to continue."

He did elaborate but Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy suggested last week that wage-price controls might be sought should the situation get out of hand, although the White House said there are no plans for such action at this time.

On the major military controversy of 1969—whether to authorize a Nixon-sponsored Safeguard antiballistic missile system—the President said flat out:

"We will win the fight on Safeguard. It will not be necessary to compromise."

This was a firmer voting strength in the Senate on this divisive issue than any uttered previously by Nixon or Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird.

Testing Warhead Nixon said intelligence, received since he recommended Safeguard, indicates the Soviet Union is testing a new multi-warhead offensive missile that, if made fully operational, could wipe out 80 per cent of the United States' Minuteman missile sites by 1973.

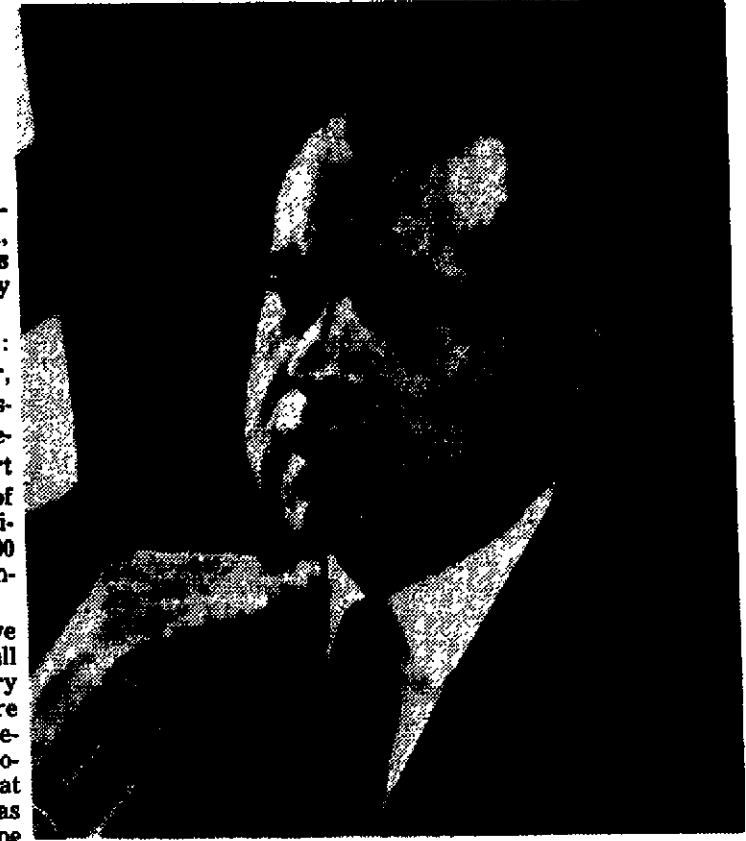

"ABM is needed particularly in order to meet that eventually," he said.

As to Vietnam, the President said: "He can cite no public evidence that serious peace talks are beginning in Paris but as asserted, 'I am not pessimistic about the outcome.'"

Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the U.S. commander in Vietnam, has orders to "conduct this war with a minimum of American casualties."

'Americans Are Tired Of Violence'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Conservative victories in recent municipal elections mean the American people are fed up with violence and lawlessness, according to President Nixon, who made law and order a major issue of his campaign for the White House.

When asked at his Thursday news conference how he assessed elections in New York City, Los Angeles and Minneapolis in which generally conservative candidates won, Nixon said:

"This is the message that comes through rather loud and clear from these elections:

"The American people in our cities, in our small towns and in this country are fed up to here with violence and lawlessness and they want candidates who will take a strong stand against." He emphasized his point by pointing to his Adam's apple.

Endorses March

The President also said he endorses the bid by conservative Republican John Marchi over John V. Lindsay for mayor of New York.

Lindsay, although the loser in the Republican primary, will be on the general election ballot as the Liberal party candidate.

Nixon said he endorses all Republican candidates and "therefore, I will endorse Sen. Marchi and the other Republican nominees on the city ticket in New York." But he added he will not campaign, comment or participate in any election below the state level, including New York City's.

In his bid for the presidency, and even after taking office, Nixon has stressed what he said is the need by the courts and local officials to crack down on unlawful behavior. The recent elections back him up, Nixon indicated.

He noted the first reaction to Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty's successful re-election bid was to see it as "simply a white-black vote" because the other candidate, Thomas Bradley, was

Irish Give
Lynch Clear
Majority Win

Fianna Fail Party
In Power for 30
Of Past 37 Years

DUBLIN (AP) — Ireland's voters gave Prime Minister Jack Lynch an outright majority in the republic's elections today—and the 52-year-old former rugby star cheerfully announced he was off to go fishing.

With the count all but over in the vote for a new Dail (lower house), Lynch's governing Fianna Fail party held 72 voting seats plus that of the house speaker, who was returned automatically.

The combined opposition totaled 66. Only five seats remained to be decided and the opposition could not possibly gain a majority.

Notable Triumph Lynch, fighting his first campaign as prime minister, had pulled off a notable triumph against virtually unanimous forecasts that his majority would vanish. He called it "a great victory."

His Fianna Fail (soldiers of destiny) is the party of business and the small farmer. It has ruled for 30 of the past 37 years and now gets a mandate for five more years.

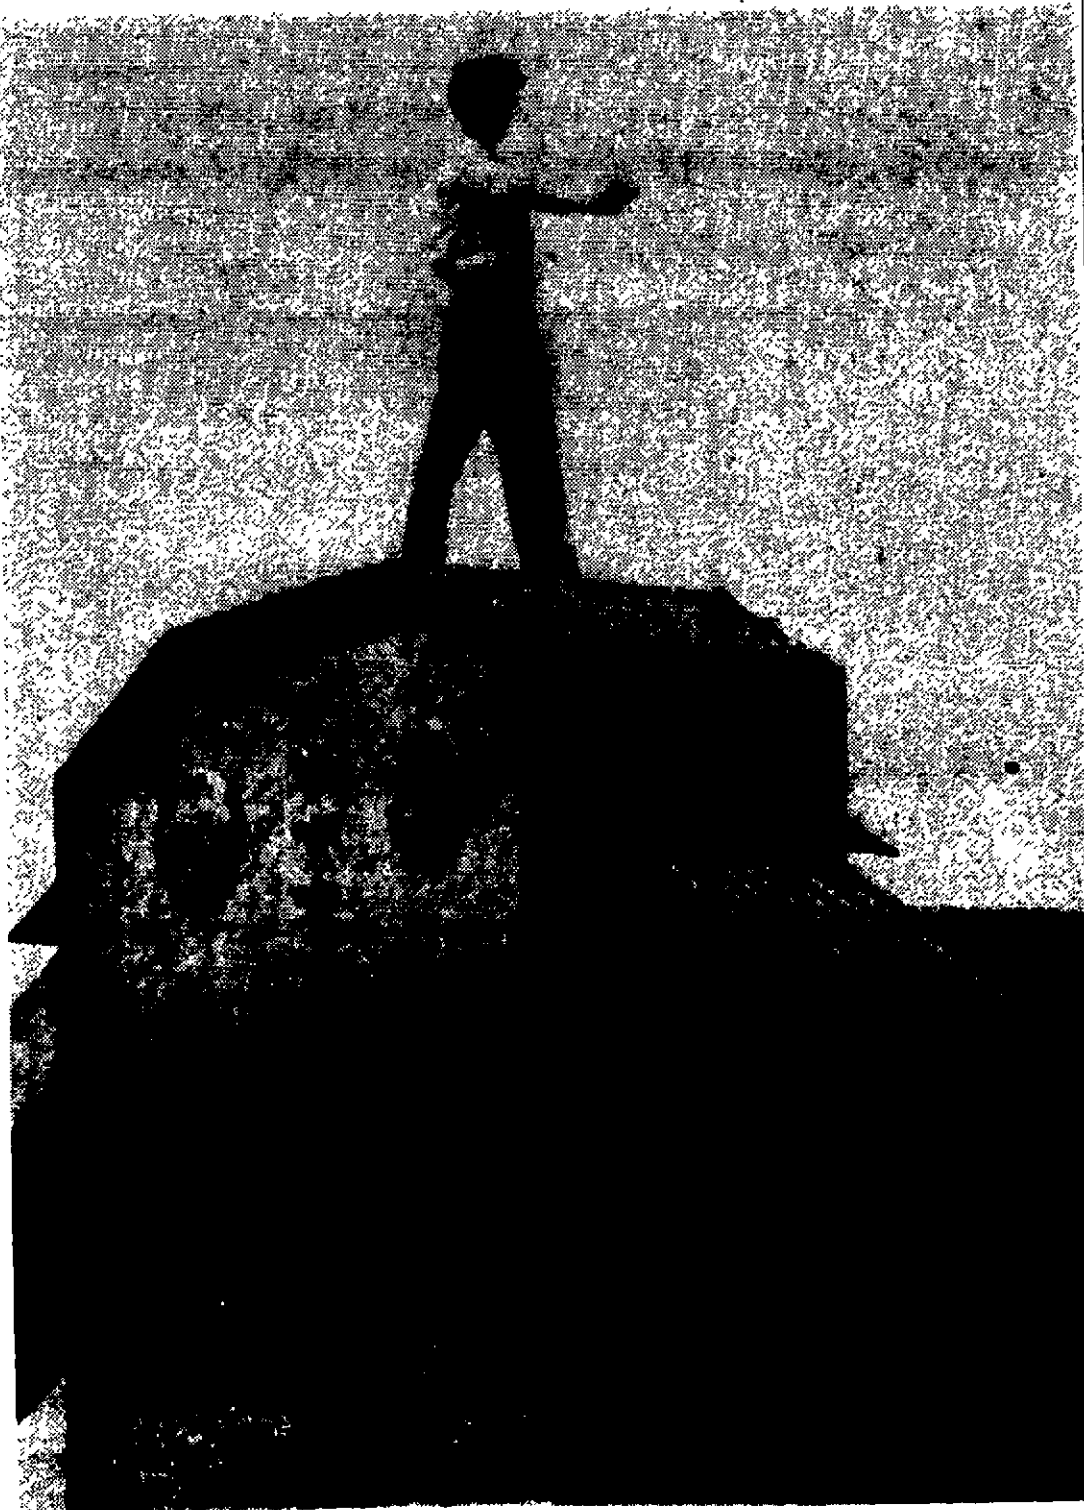

Lynch arrived smiling at a Dublin conference of the European Movement. Newman asked him his plans for the weekend and he replied: "golf fishing."

Fishing for a new Cabinet? "Maybe," he said. A Cabinet reshuffle is, in fact, virtually certain, as Lynch himself indicated when he first appeared likely to win back power.

With four seats to be decided, the state of the parties was: Fianna Fail 73 (including speaker), Labor 18 (Irish party), 48, Labor 18, Independent 1.

Sniper Sprays Police, Shoots Himself

PITTSBURGH (AP) — While his mother watched on television, a young student stood atop a downtown bridge for more than an hour shooting at police. Then he critically wounded himself in the head with a pistol.

Robert Michniak, 22, described by his mother as quiet, withdrawn and often nervous, climbed nearly 100 feet to the top of the span Thursday and fired four shots into the air. Police were called.

Steel Beam For 75 minutes, as police crouched in doorways and behind cars and armored trucks and hundreds of spectators stood behind barricades three blocks away, Michniak held his perch. Wearing black trousers and a white shirt, he walked back and forth along a steel beam high above the Allegheny River.

From time to time he fired bursts of two to six shots. Police, under orders not to shoot, said Michniak fired a total of 45 rounds. At least 20 ripped into patrol cars and police vans.

One policeman was hit in the hand by a bullet fragment. Finally Michniak pointed the gun to his head, fired and slumped out of sight.

Three patrolmen wearing bulletproof vests and helmets cautiously made their way up an aerial ladder and found him lying on the beam.

"He was lying there and she told a reporter in a telephone interview as she watched the television. When her son fired the pistol at his head, she said, 'Oh, no.'"

Mrs. Michniak said her son was placed under psychiatric care several years ago, shortly after he completed Air Force basic training.

Michniak, married and the father of a five-month-old son, had lived in Pittsburgh for two months while studying electronics at Gateway Polytechnic Institute.

Mother Watching The shooting was broadcast live by a Pittsburgh television station and among the viewers was his mother, Mrs. Arvella Michniak, who was in her home in Bethesda, Ohio, 70 miles

Compensation Sought for Guardsmen

Post-Crescent Staff Writer
MADISON — The legislature has been asked to pass a law guaranteeing that members of the Wisconsin National Guard will receive workmen's compensation for sickness or injury resulting from being called to state duty.

Sen. Gerald Lorge, R-Bear Creek, said he wrote the bill upon the request of Clintonville members of the Guard who became exhausted and ill during the period of their service in Milwaukee when they were summoned to restore order after the civil disturbances there two summers ago.

He said that the state department of industry, labor and human relations, which administers the workmen's compensation act, had denied compensation some of them had sought to cover their medical and hospital bills following that assignment.

The Lorge bill would provide that in such cases members of the militia called to state service would be assured of benefit eligibility when they are not covered by the national compensation law on a substantially equal basis.

The bill provides that if a Guardsman receives benefits, they will be paid at the highest level permitted under the compensation act, without regard to his rank or compensation as a member of the Guard.

Coroner Rules Death Suicide

Victim Drowns After Leap From Memorial Bridge

A 30-year-old woman whose body was recovered from the Fox River Thursday afternoon committed suicide by drowning, according to C. J. Schink, Outagamie County deputy coroner.

State conservation wardens, about 1:40 p.m. Thursday, recovered the body of Mrs. Forrest Redding from about four feet of water just east of the Memorial Drive bridge. Authorities had dragged the river for about eight hours.

Mrs. Redding, of 721 W. Fifth St., leaped from the 100-foot-high bridge into about 12 feet of water about 8 p.m. Wednesday, a half hour after she walked away from the fourth-floor psychiatric ward at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Witness Jump
A Menasha couple saw her jump from the bridge. Mrs. Redding's husband identified her purse Wednesday night. She had left the purse, on the bridge. Mrs. Redding reportedly had been despondent and had threatened to take her life in the past.

There was some speculation that she may have died of fall injuries instead of drowning. However, Schink said she appeared to have suffered only a fractured nose and a possible ear injury. A witness said Mrs. Redding apparently attempted to swim after the jump.

The Valley Funeral Home is in charge of funeral arrangements.

Planning Scope Of COG Affects Over 200,000

Current planning programs in the hopper of the Fox Valley Council of Governments (COG) were outlined to the Appleton City Council Wednesday night by executive director Eugene Franchett.

The council of governments is supported by dues from member communities, plus state and federal aids.

It is a voluntary association of local governments in the region represented by elected officials. Franchett disclosed the planning scope of COG affects over 200,000 persons, 650 square miles and the distance from Oshkosh to Kaukauna.

The 14 units of government holding membership are: Appleton, Kaukauna, Menasha, Neenah, Oshkosh, Combined Locks, Kimberly, Little Chute, Buchanan, Grand Chute, Harrison and Town of Menasha and Neenah.

'Learn Truth About Communism'

Priest's Wrath Runs Gamut In John Birch Society Plea

BY BOB LAUX
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

"Truth is God-given. It's not determined by the Gallup poll," the Rev. Francis E. Fenton, a member of the National Council of the John Birch Society, told an audience of over 250 people at the Appleton Columbus Club Tuesday night.

In a talk entitled "The Truth Shall Keep Us Free," Father Fenton said that if enough people know the truth about communism, then "enough will have the courage to act on the truth."

He charged that the American people had been "propagandized and conditioned and brainwashed into ignoring the communist threat" by the mass news media, "one of the best allies on the side of the communistic conspiracy."

Criticizes News Media
According to Father Fenton, truth could not be found in television, radio, magazines or newspapers, but only in John Birch pamphlets and periodicals.

He condemned anti-war groups such as the "Milwaukee 14" for objecting to the "immorality" of the Vietnam war.

Firmly convinced that the war is not immoral, he said that the only immorality in U.S. policy was forcing "American fighting men to fight a war they aren't being allowed to win," and continuing aid and trade with communist countries.

"The military might of America," he continued, is "the major obstacle in the path of conquest by world communism."

Campus Riots

Father Fenton pointed to the riots and campus disturbances of recent years and said, "Does anyone suppose that these things are just happening?" Without exception, he feels, every riot and disturbance in the country has been the result of the communist conspiracy.

School Budget Review Set at New London

NEW LONDON — A special board of education meeting to review the school budget will be at 8 p.m. Monday at the senior high school.

Complete budget figures are expected at that time and must be approved for advertising for the July 7 budget hearing.

Supt. H. James Ramsdell said, Thursday, that the state aid formula should be known soon. He said all indications are the aid will be based on a $42,000 per pupil guaranteed valuation. This year the valuation is set at $39,000 per pupil.

Ramsdell indicated the tax rate would increase moderately, but could not be determined until all pertinent information is received from the state.

Expenditures for the 1969-70 school year are estimated to be $1,832,000 compared with $1,675,551 this school year.

Using findings of congressional committees, he identified the Black Panthers, the SDS, the Progressive Labor Party and the W.E.B. Dubois clubs as communist-led or oriented.

He also talked on the "deplorable and all but incredible" activities at the University of Wisconsin this year, and said "I understand there were variations of it in your city."

Wisconsin taxpayers, he stated, don't have much to say about how their money is spent, and are "subsidizing revolution in the guise of academic freedom."

Lessons Out

Saying that the "plea of conscience is used as an excuse for disruption," the priest lashed out at the federal government for "placating rioters;" the Supreme Court for shackling the police; the Office of Economic Opportunity for hiring anarchists; and the lesser courts for "meeting out taps on the wrist" to criminals and rioters.

He also singled out the Catholic Church and the "notorious, leftist, insidious" National Council of Churches for not taking a "militant, anti-communist stand," and said that the church was a "despicable failure in public affairs."

Catholic bishops, he said, supported the "illegal and immoral boycott" of table grapes. He urged the audience to "buy and consume all

Governor to Order New Setup in July

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — A state administrative districting plan will be put into effect next month through an executive order, Gov. Warren P. Knowles announced Thursday.

The controversial plan would divide the state into eight sections for carrying out state administrative functions.

It has run into a broadside of opposition from local government and regional planning officials. Most vehement among the plan's critics has been Gordon Bubolz, chairman of the Northeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission, who fears it might alter the commission's boundaries.

At a state operational cabinet meeting Thursday, Knowles announced that he wants the plan's outlines finished by July 7 and that the cabinet will consider it in detail on July 21.

Needs Approval
If it meets with the approval of the heads of the state departments to be affected by the plan, it will be put into effect through an executive order shortly afterwards, he told the agency chiefs.

He made his announcement after the cabinet spent more than an hour with two top level Minnesota state administrators who outlined steps taken in setting up a districting plan in that neighboring state.

The bulk of the message was that Minnesota approached the districting problem from the opposite direction as Wisconsin and that there was "little that Wisconsin can learn and benefit from in Minnesota's experience."

That state has drafted a mandatory plan enacted overwhelmingly by its legislature, designed to provide for grass roots participation in a districting system designed to delegate powers to local units of government.

The Wisconsin plan affects state agencies operating at the regional and local level in the state, in a means of reshaping the organization of state agencies on those levels. The plan is designed to attempt to consolidate state operations through all of the agencies operating in a region.

Bubolz Critical
In the past few months, Bubolz has publicly made many scathing statements about the administrative district plan, because the preliminary district boundaries cut through the boundaries of the Northeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission.

Bubolz has directed equally strong blasts at a preliminary state plan to include the entire

Calumet County Dairy Queen

Mary Mayer Wins Crown

HILBERT — Mary Mayer was crowned Calumet County Dairy Queen Thursday before an estimated crowd of 1,500 persons at the annual County Cheese Derby Thursday.

The route 1, Chilton, girl received the crown from Rita Lynn Krueger, Forest Junction, last year's queen. Miss Mayer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mayer.

The new queen is a 1969 graduate of Chilton High School where she participated in forensics and received two gold medals at the state contests. She also plays the organ for St. Augustine Catholic Church. Miss Mayer will enter Holy Family College in Manitowish and plans to major in education.

The 18-year-old will promote the dairy industry in Calumet County and reign over the county fair in September.

Two Princesses

Named princesses were Judy Pilling, first runner-up, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Pilling, route 1, Hilbert, and Carol Wagner, second runner-up, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Wagner, route 2, Chilton. Judges were Mrs. William Hedrich, L. J. Friedrichs, and David Carbon, all of Chilton.

Gifts were presented to contestants by the Calumet County Cheesemakers Association, sponsors of the event.

Orrin Meyer, county agent, presented a cheese grill to Mrs. John Pagel, route 2, Chilton, for her winning dairy dessert recipe entered in the June Dairy Month recipe contest. Mrs. Pagel is a member of the rural Mary Jane Homemakers Club.

Twice-Defeated at Waupaca

Board of Education Seeks Cut in New School Costs

WAUPACA — Methods of reducing the costs of a proposed new high school were informally discussed Wednesday night by the board of education with Milwaukee architect Lawrence Schutte.

Last December and again in April the voters in the Waupaca Unified School District solidly turned down referenda to build a new high school at an estimated cost of $2.9 to $3.5 million.

In December the board of education lost its bid for the school by a margin of 160 votes. In the April election the taxpayers voiced their sentiments and defeated a school bonding issue by a 638 vote margin.

No Decision Yet
"No decision was made, of course," school board president Raymond Martin said Thursday. "We just got together to crystallize some of our ideas and talk about whether we should re-vamp the preliminary plans drawn up by Schutte prior to the two previous bond issues or start from scratch."

"A few ideas were tossed around but our major concern was to reduce the square footage of a proposed new building, so the cost would be reduced," he added.

Before architect Schutte is asked to draw another set of preliminary plans, according to Martin, the high school teachers will meet with principal Clarence Riddle to re-evaluate the original educational specifications which were the basis for the high school.

Second Drawings
Should a smaller building prove acceptable to the board, the architect would be required to draw up a second set of preliminary drawings, the board's president explained.

"Up until this time we have Paulson and Suzanne Siebert retained Schutte but we have not paid him one cent," Martin the "B" honor roll. The list answered when asked how much included 21 seniors, 17 juniors, the architect's fee had been 14 sophomores and 16 freshmen.

Outagamie County Jail Cost Set at $11,000 Per Prisoner

Outagamie County can probably figure on jail construction said, of which 12,000 would be for administration and 20,000 for prisoners. The present jail and sheriff's offices have a combined total of about 7,700 square feet, is the national average for jail construction costs.

Sauter Seaborne Architects, believe there would be any firm hired to provide problem in getting plans ready by the latest deadline of Aug. 12. Plans have been told to present set plans to house approximately 100 prisoners.

Ben Seaborne told the committee was told Thursday alternates to show an addition to the courthouse, an addition to the courthouse annex and a separate building. It has not yet determined, he said, whether an Seaborne's office at which time addition can be built on top of the courthouse. Space studies indicate a needable.

President Tells UCC Delegates

Duty to 'Dialogize, Strategize, Synthesize'

The current responsibility of the United Church of Christ (UCC) Wisconsin Conference is to "dialogize, strategize and synthesize," more than 600 delegates to the seventh annual state UCC convention were told Wednesday.

Presenting the state of the conference address on the opening day of the convention was Dr. Ralph P. Ley, conference president.

"Dialogize is the verb for dialogue. The day of monologue is past. The church, and specifically the conference, must talk or how else can we be reconcilers?" Dr. Ley asked.

"Pronouncements solve very little but dialogue brings understanding and reconciliation," he added, mentioning talks with government agents, groups interested in family planning, gun control laws, poverty and welfare programs and members of other churches as areas which should be included in the ministry of reconciliation.

"And we must strategize. It is no longer a valid stance to struggle on behalf of certain groups. It is no longer sufficient to be well-meaning. We have deep-rooted problems and an effective strategy is extremely important to solve the problems," Dr. Ley stated.

He mentioned the four thrusts this year in the urban and race strategy. The first is the ministry to metropolitan ministry program. In this the UCC has been the first to have a minister in the community move freely around in the community to work on metropolitan problems, he said.

The second thrust, he said, is the ministry with Fellowship Community Church in Milwaukee, served by the only black UCC minister in the state.

A third thrust is the urban church support to serve the people in the inner city. And the final thrust is through the program known as Mission to Metropolis or Urban Community Strategy, where UCC works together with other denominations and non-church groups.

"About $80,000 of our $388,000 budget goes into these four thrusts and we do not believe in paternalism but personhood," Dr. Ley added.

Turning to the third responsibility of the church in the coming year, Dr. Ley said, "It is important to synthesize."

"We begin this program of synthesizing in our Christian education. We develop it in our program of lay life and work where vocation and church life are synthesized. We strive to do this within the church itself by the ministry and securing strong relationships within the church," the conference president stated. He also mentioned five types of churches within the conference: inner city neighborhood, city cosmopolitan, suburban, town and small city, and non-urban churches.

"But each is an important member of our conference family and so is a part of the synthesis," Dr. Ley said.

Hopes For Year

—Intensified efforts of recruitment.

—Strengthening ministerial relationships.

—Planning for a more effective conference ministry.

An annual meeting next year that will include officers of local churches.

"Creeds in collision cannot be avoided but the result for a Christian can be a reconciling ministry through concern and commitment," Dr. Ley said, emphasizing the theme of the convention.

The 600 delegates represent more than 200 congregations in the state with a membership of more than 95,000.

There are four divisions in the state conference, each headed by an association minister.

The convention ends Friday afternoon. During these last two days, delegates will receive reports on the work of the conference, consider matters of change in the constitution, elect officers and adopt the budget and resolutions.

He also mentioned five types

Standing in front of the theme, "Concerned and Committed," which will serve as their guideline for the coming year's activities, are the new officers of the United Church of Christ, Wisconsin Conference, elected at the annual meeting at Lawrence University. From left, are the Rev. C. E. Guthrie, Eau Claire, moderator; Norman A. Schowalter, West Bend, treasurer; the Rev. Roger L. Wentz, Kaukauna, secretary, and George Burridge, Green Bay, vice moderator. About 600 delegates, representing 95,000 members in 300 churches are attending the annual convention. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Five Fox Valley Residents Attend Education Workshop

Five Fox Valley residents are among 40 state elementary teachers, supervisors and principals who are participating in a workshop at the Trees for Tomorrow Camp, Eagle River. The workshop, which started Monday and runs through June 27, is being sponsored by the Center for Research and Program Development of the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction.

The area participants include Miss Margie Reinke, Neenah public school teacher; Miss Dorene Dufek, intermediate teacher in the Oshkosh public schools; Mrs. Mary Mueztel, instructor in mathematics at Perry Tipler Junior High School in Oshkosh; Orville Sell, principal at Black Creek Elementary; and Mrs. Jane Metcalf, second grade teacher in the Seymour public school system.

Many Activities Individualized learning allows each student to progress at his own pace with freedom to choose from a wide array of appropriate learning activities, modes and styles. To effectively individualize learning, teachers need to develop the skills of identifying and writing behavioral objectives, diagnosing individual student needs, prescribing appropriate learning results of the individualized programs. The workshop will be geared to help teachers develop these skills.

In order to make the workshop as practical as possible, each participant will develop his own individualized learning program which can be used in his school next fall.

Oshkosh Youths Suspects in Three Kaukauna Burglaries

Two 17-year-old Oshkosh youths, suspected of burglarizing three Kaukauna business places, were taken into custody about 5 a.m. Thursday at an all-night restaurant north of Little Chute.

The youths are being held in juvenile detention in the Outagamie County jail. Authorities said they will attempt to have the youths waived from Juvenile Court into Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

The search for the youths began about 4 a.m. after Patrolman Daniel Koehler of the Little Chute Police Department reported that two subjects fled from near Larry's Piggly Wiggly Store, on State 96, into a field. He radioed for assistance.

Kaukauna police, a short time earlier, had discovered burglaries at two business places.

Little Chute, Kaukauna, and Outagamie County police searched the area, concentrating on a field between State 96 and County Trunk 00.

Found Eating Sheriff Calvin L. Spice found the youths eating lunch at The Moasis truck stop. An attendant there said he saw the youths walk out of a field.

Spice said the youths offered no resistance. They reportedly were carrying a large amount of change.

The youths said they hitchhiked to Kaukauna from Oshkosh Wednesday night to attend a teen dance.

Authorities said the burglaries in Kaukauna occurred at the Modern Bar, 510 Draper St., where $24 in change was missing, and at Highland House Supper Club, 701 Hyland Ave., and the Hub Bar, 704 Hyland Ave.

An undetermined amount of money was taken from each of the two Hyland Avenue places.

Fly Ash in Kaukauna Causes Pool Problems

KAUKAUNA — The health and recreation committee of the common council has ordered James Gertz, recreation director, to meet with area industries concerning a fly ash problem at the swimming pool.

Pool personnel have noted an increasing amount of soot settling in the pool, causing a filtration problem. Gertz is to attempt to learn what could be done to alleviate the problem.

Eligible, but Second in Line City's Chances Slim for $500 Chamber New Industry Reward

The city's chances of getting a $500 reward from the Appleton Area Chamber of Commerce for landing a new industry appeared slim today.

It was disclosed the city council, which authorized the city attorney Wednesday night to contact Chamber officials and see if the city could collect, try appear slim.

A local real estate firm earlier in the week contacted the Chamber and inquired whether it might qualify for the $500 as result of a Michigan firm deciding to build a trucking terminal here.

The attempt to cash in on the Chamber's first $500 reward was suggested by Ald. John Steidl (18th) after the council approved selling a five-acre tract to Darling Transfer Co. in the Northeast Industrial Park.

Steidl remarked that the $500 could help offset the city's costs for a new brochure it recently prepared and will send throughout the country.

Chamber officials indicated the more applications they receive for $500 "new industry rewards" the better.

Earlier in the month the Chamber had announced $500 would be rewarded to persons or organizations responsible for supplying leads for new industries that might want to locate here.

Don Stone, Chamber manager, said the city or anyone else could submit official entry blanks properly completed so they can be judged by the association's industrial development committee.

He added the city was not the first to inquire about the reward for the latest industrial park transaction.

There is another possible angle that could cloud the picture.

One official, who asked not to be quoted, raised the question if a trucking terminal comes under the definition of a "new industry." Darling Transfer currently operates from a W. 4th Street location.

All conceded, however, that all types of commercial and industrial ventures were welcome in the city's industrial parks.

15 New Teachers Hired at Brillion

Faculty Has Wide Educational Background, Teaching Experience

BRILLION — Fifteen new teachers have been hired for the public schools here next year and one vacancy still remains on the faculty. An English-geometry teacher is being sought.

Of this number, four are returning to the system after an absence from the faculty. They are Mrs. Hugo Zutz Jr., Brillion, who has a BS degree from La Crosse State University. She will teach English and library; Mrs. Richard Larson, Brillion, graduate of Lawrence University, English; Mrs. James Armstrong, Neenah, BA degree from LaCrosse State University, girls' physical education, and

Mrs. Richard Edwards, a graduate of Stevens Point State University will teach kindergarten.

Two high school teachers who taught full time last year will be working on a part time basis and Mrs. Larson will teach part time. Three new positions have been added to the high school including a mobile guidance teacher.

New to the system for the coming year are four recent graduates of Outagamie Teachers College, Kaukauna. They are Delores Haese, Greenleaf, who will teach first grade; Sandra Jansen, Little Chute, second grade; William Vandenberg, Stockbridge, fourth grade; and Susan Heyn, Greenleaf, fifth and sixth grades.

Others are Robert Looftboro, a graduate of Eau Claire State University, who will teach biology and earth science; Mrs. Looftboro, a graduate of Barron County Teachers College who has taught in the Arkansas and Chetek school systems, will teach third grade; Scott Ward, who has a BS degree from Northern Michigan University, will teach junior high social studies; Mrs. Don Hepler Jr., who has a BA degree from Whitewater State University, will teach business education;

Paul Guthrie, BA degree from Northland College, Ashland, and has taught at Lake Forest and Zion, Ill., will teach United States history and physics; Maylon Peters, a graduate of the University of Nebraska, who has taught in the Milford Public Schools there, will teach agriculture, and J. Pat Wagner, who has a BS degree from the University of Wisconsin-Madison and has taught in the Janesville High School, will work in the mobile guidance post.

They are Ruth Prah, Elaine Winkler, Debra Koerth, Sandra McVey, Laurel Habermann, Sandra Reese, Frances Paul, Glenda Hillmann and Laura Miller, seniors.

Juniors include Mary Garrow, Terri Vechart, Marlene Hedrich, Carol McVey, Wendy Schnell, Paul Buboltz, Janet Boeder and Deborah Rowland.

Freshmen include Vonita Ennepner, Diane Schwahn, William Volkmar, Beverly Tesch, Diane Schneider, Jodelle Schmidt, Deborah Behnke, Debra Hoyer and Cheryl Loefer.

CLINTONVILLE — Five local Boy Scouts will attend the national jamboree in Idaho in July. They are Robert Poole, Howard Christianson, David Gleason, Fred Olk and Michael Gericke.

Ted Jozwiak, Clintonville, is the assistant scoutmaster of the special troop comprised of boys from throughout the Valley and Council with the rank of Star Scout or higher.

Junior Group Meet Staged

Competition at Weyauwega Draws
41 Boys, Girls

WEYAUWEGA — Junior Champ track and field competition was conducted recently by the Jaycees at the high school athletic field with 41 boys and girls participating.

Ribbons were awarded for the first three places in each event.

Several outstanding performances included: Boys 11-12: Mike Abraham, 60-yard dash, 8.3 seconds and 100-yard dash, 13.6; Boys 13-14: Mike Rohde, 440-yard dash, 1:08.3 and pole vault, 7 feet; Boys 15-16: Scott Purchatzke, 100-yard dash, 11.5 and 220-yard dash, 26.7; Ron Kriesse, 660-yard run, 2:23.6 and Gary Schmies, high jump, 5 feet 2 inches; Boys 17-18: Bob Rohde, 220-yard dash, 27.6.

Chairman Frank Zabo was assisted by Don Chase, Len Rohde, Mrs. Ralph Gehrke, Mrs. Richard Zehfus, Gordon Kadolph, Ed Ruppo, Tim Bratz and Ray Hutchinson.

The Wisconsin State Junior Champ Track and Field Meet will be July 19 at Homestead High School, Mequon.

Two Valley Area Girls Named to State FHA Posts

GREEN LAKE — A Manawa and Birnamwood girl were among the officers elected by the Wisconsin Association of the Future Homemakers of America at the state convention.

Marilynn Herman, Manawa, was elected treasurer, and Jane Nemke, Birnamwood, was selected program chairman.

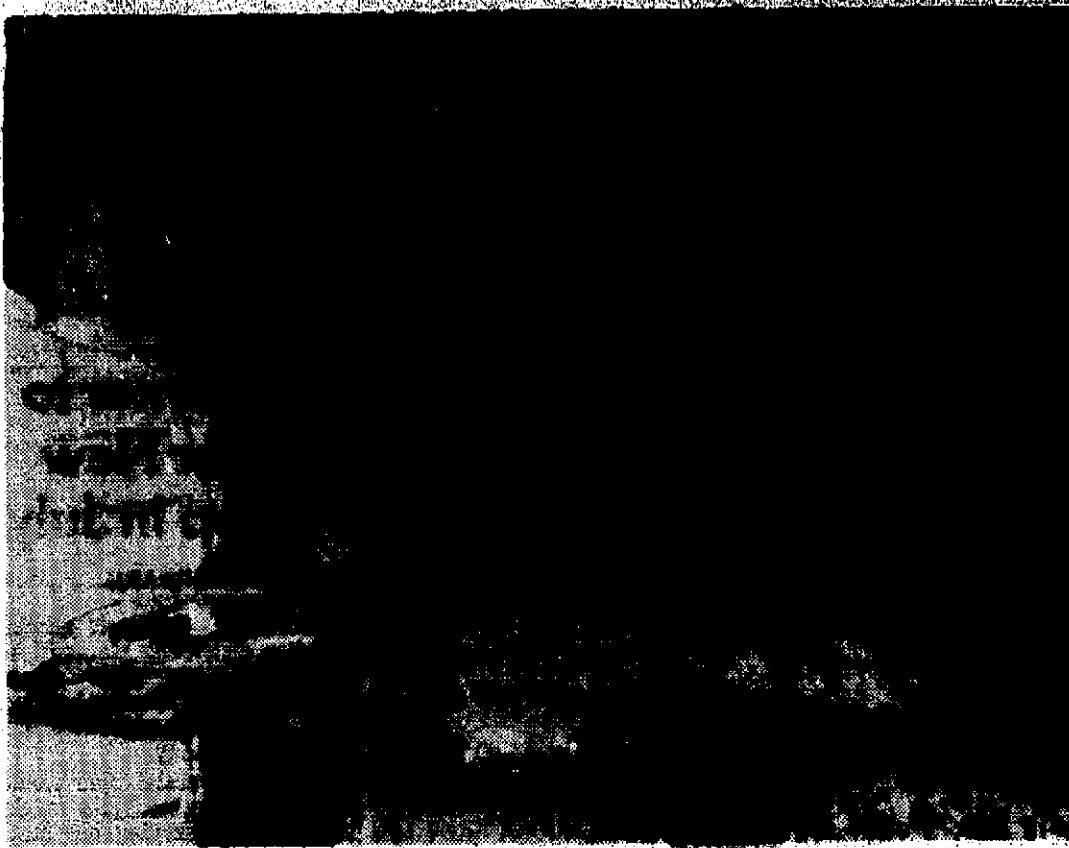

Carolyn Fortne, Viroqua, was elected president. Vice presidents are Debbie Heppner, Turtle Lake, District I; Karen Lentz, Colfax, District II; Barbara Ofstedahl, Holman, District III; Barbara Kock, Mishicot, District IV, and Darlene Zimerlie, Oregon, District V.

Also elected during the four day convention were Laurie Johnson, Osceola, Secretary; Lori Travis, Lake Geneva, parliamentarian; Barbara Servi, Antigo, recreation chairman, and Debra Houde, Rice Lake, historian.

Jamboree Training Session Attended by 2 Marion Boy Scouts

MARION — Peter Rogers and Mike Meyer were among Boy Scouts attending a pre-jamboree training session the past weekend in Neenah.

The two-day session was comprised of 33 Scouts of star rank or above from the North, East and Tri-City districts which will form a select troop to represent the Valley Council of the Boys Scouts at the national jamboree. The jamboree is scheduled July 16-22 at Farragut, Idaho.

SEYMOUR — Eleven seniors headed the list of 34 students making the high honor roll for the second semester.

Seniors earning high honors were Arend Bulder, Luana Chambers, Nancy Jochman, Greg King, Shirley Krahn, William Kuehne, Diane Lom, Patricia Mastey, Ann Weyers, Bruce Wilson and Jean Wussow. Top junior students were Michele Jenquin, Robert Lubinski, Elene Mullen, Nancy Peters, Chris Schaumburg, Ed Stephani and Christine Wussow; sophomores were Joseph Ambrosius, Mary Flanagan, Sarah Melchert, Charla Phillips, Sandra Reis, Susan Schoen, Marilyn Sell and Cynthia Wehrman; freshmen, Debra Diermeier, Ronald Grunwald, Ann Lubinski, Curtis Marsh, Rosalyn Mueller, Faith Wolberg, Robert Wolk and Lynn Wussow.

A total of 45 students won honors. The list included 12 seniors, 12 juniors, 6 sophomores and 15 freshmen.

Missionary Group Meets at Manawa

MANAWA — "Personal Faith and Life" was the program theme at the St. Paul Lutheran Women's Missionary League meeting Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Everette Schefelker led the Christian growth topic, "Weaving Your Life with the Word of God."

Others participating in the program were Mrs. Chris Joch, Mrs. Clarence Sturm, Mrs. Emanuel Feustel, Mrs. Leonard Marcy, Mrs. Walter Oestreich, Mrs. Fern Karth, Mrs. Henry Mortensen and Mrs. Alfred Thiel, Jr.

Clintonville Church Society Sets Show

CLINTONVILLE — The annual Antique Show and Sale, sponsored by the Woman's Society of Christian Service, will be from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. July 24 and 25 in the Fellowship Hall and educational wing of the United Methodist Church.

There will be a noon luncheon each day. Coffee and dessert also will be served.

Charges Against New London Man Are Dismissed

WAUPACA — Charges of possession of stolen property against Elmer Beyers, route 3, New London, were dismissed in Circuit Court, before Judge James H. Levi.

Failure to produce sufficient evidence was the basis for the dismissal in the case which involved Beyers' possession of a boat, motor and trailer registered in Minnesota, and belonging to William King, route 4, Hastings, Minn.

Richard Quaintance, 23, 414 1/2 Avon St., New London, and John Frenche, 20, now serving a sentence in the Green Bay Reformatory testified against Beyers under immunity granted by the office of the district attorney.

Quaintance told the court that he "went to steal a boat" (the one which was found in Beyers' possession). Beyers was charged with the felony in Municipal Justice Court on Jan. 22 and his preliminary hearing was heard in County Court on Feb. 4.

Cub Scouts Hold Olympic Meet At Clintonville

CLINTONVILLE — About 20 Cub Scouts participated Wednesday evening in the annual Olympic meet at the junior high school athletic field.

Dan McCarthy was chairman of the event and was assisted by fathers of the boys.

Six trophies were awarded to the first three places on two age groups and all participants received Olympic ribbons. Scouts were judged on a point system of overall achievement in six events including high jump, long jump, basketball throw, baseball throw, 80-yard dash, and 60-yard dash.

The winners in the younger group were Trent Morgan, first; Kevin Prellwitz, second, and Mark Sasse, third. In the older group the winners were Dan Peters, first; Dave McCarthy, second, and Joe Manuel, third.

Evergreen Inn Keeps Women's Softball League Lead at Wittenberg

WITTENBERG — Evergreen Inn retained its one game lead in the Women's Softball League by defeating Malita Club, 11-2, in play this week.

The winners collected 13 hits including two doubles by Mary Matz and one each by Ronda Hartelben and Yvonne Walter. Joanne Ashenbrenner, who gave up seven hits, was the winning pitcher. The loser was Faith Herman.

Vie's Last Resort came from behind with three runs in the seventh inning to defeat Rat Hole, 10-9, to retain second place with a 3-2 record. Kathy Presl and Gail Swanks each had three hits for the victors and Barbara Traits had three hits for the losers. Bev Breitenfeldt was the winning pitcher and Judy Erickson was the loser.

Remodeling Begins At Waupaca High

WAUPACA — The contract for remodeling sections of the high school was awarded Wednesday, and the work already has been started by Don's Construction and Building Supply Inc.

Two bids were received for the work, with Don's Construction's low bid of $81,000 being accepted by the board of education.

The project will include the complete remodeling of the girls' washroom on the second floor, considerable work on the first floor washroom and replacing floors in three classrooms.

The storage and rest rooms on the third floor will be converted into a guidance room, and a hard surface will be poured on the elementary school playground.

Hot Lunch Report

In a report to the board of education, Supt. George Hendrickson stated that 134,585 hot lunches were served during the 1966-67 school year. Receipts totaled $55,095 and expenditures totaled $61,362. The difference is made up by the department of public instruction.

The board approved hiring a half-day vocal music instructor and a physical education instructor for the elementary grades.

Estimates will be obtained for the cost of remodeling the high school basement art room.

Salary Raise

An $80 a month raise in pay, effective July 1, was approved for the bus supervisor.

The board will meet to elect

Lopsided Wins Set Pace in New London Loop

NEW LONDON — Victors not only gained the spoils, but most of the scoring in one-sided wins in Boy's Baseball League minor division play Tuesday.

The Cubs blasted the Colts, 14-11, in the only close game in the minors, while the Falcons pounded the Panthers, 15-1, and the Badgers downed the Foxes, 11-1. The Badgers' Larry Klug collected the only home run in the minors. Paul Thorp fanned 13 for the Falcons, while Jim Matyas struck out 10 in the Badgers' victory.

One-run decisions were the order in the major loop as the Pirates slipped by the Giants, 3-2, and the Dodgers nipped the Red Sox, 5-4. The Red Sox' Tom Fredericks fanned 10 in a losing cause.

Clintonville Lions See Canadian Sports Movie

CLINTONVILLE — Lewis K. Thomas, New London, spoke and showed movies of his fishing trip to Belchner Island in Hudson Bay at Tuesday night's dinner meeting of the Lions Club.

Walter Essman was program chairman.

Next week the club will install officers at a ladies' night event.

John Birch Priest's Wrath Runs Gamut

The priest, said he was convinced that a "small minority" of communists were using the clerical collar as a masquerade for their activities.

"Priests don't become communists," he said, "communists become priests."

Loudest Applause

Father Fenton drew the loudest applause of the night for his descriptions of Milwaukee's Father James Groppi. "I tend to choke slightly when I call him Father Groppi," he said. "I'd like to call him many things, but I don't use Jim Groppi's language."

Groppi, he stated, "violates the law in a wholesale manner," and "has a police record that would put many gangsters to shame."

The Milwaukee priest, he said, has been doing a great job of aiding and abetting the communist movement in Wisconsin, and should be "put behind bars."

The late Rev. Martin Luther King also came under Father Fenton's attack. He deplored the "concentrated effort at propaganda" that was turning King into a martyr, and said he personally thinks one of the reasons he was assassinated was for this purpose.

The speaker said that 85 per cent of the pornography in America was financed by the communist movement in its effort to cause the "moral degeneracy" of the country.

Gun Control Laws

Another example of propaganda, the priest felt, were attempts at gun control laws. "In the final stages of a 'red' takeover of America, nothing could be more helpful than registration laws."

About the present administration in Washington, Father Fenton agreed with the George Wallace slogan that there wasn't "a dime's worth of difference" between it and previous administrations.

"In my own case," he stated, "I wouldn't have voted for the presidency if George Wallace hadn't run." Wallace, he continued, "was head and shoulders above the rest of the candidates."

The white-haired priest from Bridgeport, Conn., made it clear that he was in good standing with his bishop, and was on a leave of absence to speak to a nationwide network of audiences sponsored by local TACT (Truth About Civil Turmoil) committees.

Great Hero

He was especially happy to come to Appleton, he said, for the opportunity to visit and pray at the grave of the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy.

"I'll say this anytime—when the truest history of America is written, Joseph McCarthy will go down as one of the greatest heroes in her history," he said.

Throughout his talk, the priest urged the people present to purchase the John Birch Society books and magazines on display at the rear of the room so that they might become informed about communist activities.

A member of the local Tri-County TACT Committee closed the meeting with a dramatic plea for more TACT members: "Give me some men who are stout-hearted men, who will fight for the right to be free."

Projects Set for Chilton Church Vacation School

CHILTON — Two projects are being conducted by the vacation school, entitled "God's Church," being conducted by the Ebenezer United Church of Christ.

Children attending are conducting a paper drive to pay for a drum being donated to the orchestra at Cedar Lake Home.

More than 7,000 pounds of paper have been collected during the two weeks the school has been in session.

To conclude the program the pupils will have a service at 9 a.m. Sunday.

Another project being conducted by the youngsters is an offering for the head start program of the Zion United Church of Christ, Milwaukee.

According to the Rev. Quentin Moeschberger, pastor, this is the largest vacation school yet, with a total of 120 youngsters and teachers participating.

Dale Church Group Makes Chicago Tour

DALE — Five members of the Junior Youth Fellowship of Zion United Church of Christ took a trip to Chicago last weekend.

The five included Donald Delzer, Suzanne Klitzke, Inez Philippi, Pamela Wallenfang and Jane Winckler. They were accompanied by the Rev. and Mrs. Glenn Winckler.

Winners in the Annual Olympic meet for Cub Scouts and Webelos at Clintonville are, from the left, Mark Sasse, third; Kevin Prellwitz, second, and Trent Morgan, first, in the younger age group; and Dan Peters, first; Dave McCarthy, second, and Joe Mauel, third, in the older age group, all of whom received trophies. ## Lutchin's Defense Costly

'Mistake in the First Place'

Outagamie County paid $2,205.78 for legal counsel for a Cincinnati, Ohio, man charged with a Dec. 7, 1967 burglary and theft at an Appleton jewelry store.

County Judge Urban P. Van Susteren this week approved a $1,943.31 voucher submitted by attorney Robert E. Henke whom the judge had appointed to represent Harold B. Lutchin.

Van Susteren earlier had approved a voucher for $862.47. Henke was paid that amount last August.

Lutchin, 36, is scheduled for trial June 25 on felony charges of burglary and theft at the Martin J. Hupka Jewelry Store, 336 W. College Ave. Lutchin is free on a $10,000 bond.

Called a Mistake

Van Susteren cancelled Lutchin's court appointed attorney June 6 after ruling that the Cincinnati man no longer is indigent. Van Susteren said it was a mistake to name an attorney for Lutchin in the first place.

It is not known if Henke will continue to represent Lutchin at the Cincinnati man's expense.

Henke's last voucher to the county actually totaled $1,945, but he reduced it by a third — as is policy with court-appointed attorneys in Outagamie County — then he added $46 which he said represented the cost of an air charter trip to Madison last September for a State Supreme Court appearance just prior to a scheduled trial here.

A large amount of the total bill presented by Henke represented his cost in taking pre-trial motions to the state high court. The high court ruled against Henke's client.

Organization Stymied

Disaster Agency Still Having It's Difficulties

Problems are still plaguing efforts of Howard Rathbun, Outagamie County emergency government director, to set up an Economic Stabilization Agency in the county.

and rent controls in the event of a national emergency.

Rathbun met Thursday with the board's health, education and institutions committee to seek a go-ahead to start the search for unpaid volunteers to head up the agency.

He noted that while his office was given the job to set up a stabilization agency, civil defense actually had nothing to do with its operation.

Too Big

Supv. Russell DeLaHunt, Kaukauna, committee chairman, told Rathbun the committee supported the idea, but the proposed table of organization was too big. "It won't work," DeLaHunt asserted. "It involves too many people. No one will volunteer their time to work for nothing."

The committee chairman added, "We will support anything that is realistic and practical." Rathbun agreed. "I want a plan that will work in this county," he said.

The hangup came on who had the authority to appoint the director for such an agency in the county. Rathbun indicated the county board had the appointment authority but agreed, at the request of the committee, to check the legal requirements.

Annual Family Picnic For Cub Scouts Set By Marion Firemen

MARION — Cub Scout pack 26 will conduct its annual family picnic June 29 at Circle J Ranch.

Each family is required to bring meat for their own family and a dish to pass.

Charcoal fires will be ready at 12:30 p.m. The volunteer fire department, sponsors of the pack, will furnish the ice cream and light refreshments.

Firemen and their families will attend.

About an hour of organized games is planned following the picnic. Monthly awards will be presented during a short business meeting.

Four Area Youths Elected Officers in Boys-Girls States

Four area youths attending Badger Boys and Girls States in Ripon and Madison, respectively, have been elected to offices.

Tim Nolan, Marion, won the race for state attorney, defeating Jon Menn, Appleton, in a recount vote. He will serve with the new governor, John Jungbacker, Oshkosh.

State winners in the Girls State were Karen Vaubel, Kaukauna, and Mary Stumpf, Sherwood, elected to the senate; and Barbara Welch, Kimberly, chosen judge.

The states end Saturday.

Wittenberg Beats Birnamwood, 11-1, In BABA Contest

WITTENBERG — Wittenberg overpowered Birnamwood, 11-1, in Northern Division BABA action Sunday. Both teams are now tied for second with 4-3 records.

Wittenberg broke a tight 2-1 game open in the sixth inning with seven runs. All of the scoring occurred after two were out. Jerry Schmidt and Steve Hanke each drove in a pair of runs with hits.

Winning pitcher Dan Owen struck out 16 and gave up five hits. Wittenberg collected 11 hits off four Birnamwood hurlers. Hatley ran his winning streak to seven by downing Almon, 7-1. The winners rapped out 13 hits. Jim Buss and Jack Kautman drilled three hits each as Eland downed Elderon, 15-1. Bob Stanke also homered for the winners who had 14 safeties.

72-Year-Old Man Crushed By Dump Truck

Victim Watching E. Newberry Street Construction Work

A 72-year-old man who was watching construction work on E. Newberry Street was crushed to death under the wheels of a dump truck about 4 p.m. Thursday.

The victim was Martin Jansen, 3031 E. Newberry St., who died of crushing chest and internal injuries, according to C. J. Schink, Outagamie County deputy coroner. Jansen was dead on arrival at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Driver of the unloaded dump truck was William R. Rogers, 27, 1312 Harvey St., Green Bay. The 15,000-pound truck is owned by Bitters Trucking Co., Green Bay.

Jansen's son, Martin J. Jansen, 34, was murdered Jan. 20, 1968, while working as a custodian at Cloud Buick Co., Inc., in the Town of Grand Chute.

Appleton police were told that Jansen, Rogers and other men had been talking behind the dump truck. Rogers reportedly got back into the truck, looked into both rear view mirrors and, realizing no one was behind the vehicle, started backing up.

He stopped when he heard shouts from a witness, Jeff Nere, 14, 2806 E. Newberry St. Rogers found Jansen under the truck. The rear dual wheels had passed over the man's chest.

A doctor living near the accident scene applied mouth to mouth resuscitation.

Hard of Hearing

Nere told police that Jansen was leaning against the tailgate of the dump truck when it started to back up. Jansen reportedly was hard of hearing.

Schink said Jansen's death would be considered an industrial accident and not a traffic fatality because the 2500 block of E. Newberry Street, where the accident occurred, is closed to traffic for construction work.

Jansen, a native of Holland, was retired from the Kimberly Clark Corp. He was a widower. Funeral services will be held Saturday morning at Holy Name Catholic Church, Kimberly, and burial will be in the parish cemetery. Arrangements are being handled through the Jansen Funeral Home, Kimberly.

state in regional planning districts. Douglas Weiford, secretary of the Department of Local Affairs and Development, has suggested that the regional planning district lines might follow the administrative district lines. This would strip away some of the territory of Bubolz's commission, but Weiford contends his plan is flexible and need not alter commission boundaries.

Knowles said some local government officials fear that the plan might be the first step in an attempt to alter their autonomous powers.

Building Policies

Another factor in opposition comes from persons fearing that the state will alter its building policies and that it will attempt to consolidate its departmental buildings throughout the state.

Knowles stated flatly at the cabinet meeting that there is no foreseeable chance that the state will change its policies and follow that course in the future.

The cabinet has agreed, said Knowles, that "it is just not feasible" to attempt such a program.

Roy Olson of the Minnesota Department of Administration told the cabinet that that state's districting efforts started when the state government found "that we had a mess on our hands."

"Problems and the solutions to problems have outrun the established boundaries of government," he said. To solve the mess, said Olson, "it is the responsibility of the state to act in the crucial area of structure."

Regions Can be Changed

He urged the cabinet to remember that "regions are not made in heaven, but are the products of people and negotiations. It doesn't hurt anybody very much to give a little bit on the boundaries they are adhering to. There is more to gain from order than chaos," said Olson.

Roger Schrantz, head of state planning for the Wisconsin department of administration, told the cabinet officials that the state districting plan is considered flexible and that department chiefs have indicated that they will find it adaptable enough to use for their agencies' local efforts.

Legislative Caprice

In a moment of caprice, or perhaps merely through failure to read the measure, a heavy majority of members of the Wisconsin Assembly the other day voted to kill a perfectly reasonable and useful bill that would make more effective the partnership of the state and its localities with the national government as planned under the National Highway Safety Act of 1966.

In legislative parlance, the measure sponsored by Gov. Knowles and supported by the highway committee of the Assembly, was a clarification bill. It would have made more Wisconsin municipalities eligible for federal aids for traffic safety work, as one pertinent example.

It would have assured a more effective administration of the federal aids — amounting to about $5,000,000 over a three year period for this state — by providing for county coordinators working in collaboration with a state traffic coordinator's office in Madison. The alternative would have been the possibility of some 2,200 separate municipal programs, which would have been difficult or impossible to supervise or evaluate, and might very well have led to wastefulness.

Mayor Lindsay and the New York Primary

The defeat of John Lindsay in the New York Republican mayoralty primary is of significance from the Wisconsin viewpoint when the mini-rebellion within the state delegation to the 1968 national party convention after President Nixon's choice of Spiro Agnew as his running mate is recalled.

These delegates thought the ticket needed a balancing factor of a vice presidential candidate who was identified both as a progressive Republican and one who had made his mark with urban voters. And the handsome Lindsay seemed to fill this requirement, even to the point of a few Wisconsin votes being cast in futility against Mr. Nixon's choice. Thus, quite aside from what is going on in New York, the face of the Republican Party nationally has been changed by the primary's results.

This factor was recognized by 35 Republican Congressmen signing a plea for Lindsay's nomination and by New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, who has had his brushes with Lindsay, going to bat for the mayor.

Many summaries of the primary have concluded that the defeat of Lindsay reflects a national trend which includes the recent election of a "law and order" mayor in Minneapolis and the re-election of Los Angeles Mayor Yorty in a campaign which

How Much Is a Face Worth?

Human beings go to very much trouble sometimes to change their looks. The volume of sales of cosmetics and other products connected with making the face appear more attractive continues to mount — and even has stretched to the point of false mustaches and beards being sold to men who want to be whiskered for an evening.

Deborah Fox could place in perspective the entire matter of how long we look at ourselves in the mirror, how much we worry about it and the hours and money we spend due to dissatisfaction with what nature has given us. Deborah recently completed a 13½-hour operation, 37th in a series, which changed the configuration of her skull bones, moved her eyes from the sides to the center of her face and started the rebuilding of her nose. She was born without a normal face.

Looking Backward
New Temperance Suggestion

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for June 25, 1969.

The idea of establishing societies pledging its members to invite no one to drink with them is gaining attention and exciting interest.

Every man in Appleton who drinks an occasional glass of beer knows that he seldom enters a beer saloon without seeing some "seed" apparently waiting around to be invited to drink at someone's expense.

Now, if every occasional drinker who enters a saloon should refrain from asking those waiting "seeds" to drink, would not the latter soon be compelled to stay sober and find other employment?

We have but a few of them here. But it is worth while to try the experiment on them.

25 YEARS AGO

Alvin Schabo, Appleton, was to attend Lutheran Theological Seminary in Thienerville the next fall. He was graduated with the bachelor of arts degree that June from Northwestern College, Watertown, Wis.

Karl Sager, Appleton, was to

Some legislators stated reasons for their opposition to the bill. There was some objection, for example, to the fact that the office of state traffic safety coordinator is attached to the executive department.

We fail to see that the location of this service is pertinent or important. But, in any event, the state had no choice when the office was created two years ago. The terms of the federal act which largely finances the service expressly declared that the coordinator should be attached to the governor's office.

It is evident that many of our representatives did not know enough about the subject they voted upon, and thus there is hope for a reconsideration vote or for a new start on the measure in the state senate. The fears that this bill would have forced upon Wisconsin some of the safety laws that Washington favors are utterly groundless. Indeed, it will be the failure of the state, in this and many other instances, to act on problems that are serious and obvious that ultimately will induce the national government to extend its jurisdiction ever more deeply into areas that ought to be reserved to the states and localities.

had disturbing racial overtones. But this may be an over-simplification.

Lindsay is chief executive for a city which many describe as being impossible to govern and he had to take the rap for criticisms spawned in countless controversies over the past four years. In addition to that, Lindsay — in a primary limited to registered Republicans — was seeking support from voters more conservative than the mayor's stripe of Republicanism.

Despite his defeat in the Republican primary, Lindsay may well be re-elected because of the political hodgepodge in New York. He emerged as the nominee of the Liberal Party and set about at once organizing a coalition for the November election. Since the voting pattern of the city is overwhelmingly on the Democratic side and since the Democratic nominee also represents the conservative viewpoint, Lindsay could be the ultimate winner.

But Lindsay has lost the base of a local Republican organization for whatever national political ambitions he might have. If he is re-elected as a certified Liberal Party member, national Republicans, despite opinions such as those expressed by the Wisconsin delegation in Miami Beach, will have quite a task in semantics before welcoming him back into the GOP fold.

The 13-year-old Tennessee girl faces more operations, especially on her nose and mouth, and one day may have a fairly normal face. She has studied at home and now looks forward to being up and around after this operation. Her ambition is to work with handicapped children.

Deborah Fox's case is admittedly unusual. But the lesson she can teach our teenagers and young adults and even mothers and fathers who may complain that their looks aren't as good as the Jones' is one which unfortunately we can apply to ourselves more often than we would like to admit. And when we feel a bit ashamed at our complaining because we have "only" an average face which is not as attractive as those of movie stars, then it shows that the lesson is one from which we can profit.

Democrats Got Us Into War, Now They Want to Pull Out

Editor, The Post-Crescent:

I cannot help but write this answer to the headline in today's Post-Crescent Total U.S. Withdrawal Asked By Democrats. Yesterday I received a father's day card from my only son who is in Vietnam and not of his choosing. He was taken from his teaching post of the University of Michigan even after the dean wrote the local draft board. I also spend time fighting a war for the Democrats.

Mr. Wilson, his honor Roosevelt, Kennedy, Johnson, Truman, who would not let McArthur win the war in Korea, were all peace-loving Democrats. Now that most all American people are fed up with this useless war they want a withdrawal. They will not admit that they are the party that messed us in. Taylor Writes
Hungarians Don't Fool Viennese; They Know About the Executions

VIENNA — Like Red Hungary's sugary appeal for American tourists — this journalist, albeit, excluded by an official blackball — the recent visit here of Hungarian Minister-President Jeno Fock was a pitch for the West's hard currencies. The Austrian shilling is now backed by more than a hundred per cent in gold.

Fock probed the Austrian government with his thoughts and speeches like a crooked gambler fanning a deck of cards. As Reds are doing in our country, it was all dedicated to contaminating the flow of public opinion.

EXECUTIONS AT 5 A.M.

But Fock's visit carried the aroma of barbed wire, of the sentry dogs and secret police, and of the buried terrors practiced by his Red regime less than 60 miles away. He was lucky to get out of Austria with his skin intact, for pitiable and knowing Budapest-persecuted Hungarian refugees are everywhere in Vienna. And their relatives left behind sleep each night with one eye open, waiting for the knock.

At Budapest's Central prison the executions occur at 5 o'clock in the morning. Escaped Hungarians will tell you: "You never know the day. You only know the hour." No Hungarian or seized foreigner is ever warned in advance that he or she is to be liquidated.

This is likewise confirmed for Red Czechoslovakia by Czech-born American citizen poor Israel fighting for its life knows that.

I am not that narrow-minded, that I think all Democrats are fakers. My Dad was a Democrat, and I voted for Nelson and Proxmire, not that I would ever vote for Nelson again. Vladimir Kazan-Komarek, long held in prison in Prague, and whose brother Miroslav served 10 years in jail merely because he knew him.

Among Viennese, probably the most famous of Budapest's secret executions, which even Fock did not have the gall to deny, were those of 57 Hungarian youths at the university, 46 boys and 11 girls. Held incommunicado, all were hanged in the Central Prison courtyard, each girl on the day she reached her 18th birthday, each boy when he reached his 21st.

Fock's "bridge-building" foray here, a transparent fraud from which we should draw our own lesson in the United States, was a total failure. The Austrian people know that the Red leopard has not changed its spots.

TRADE GIVES AID

Located on the Hungarian-Czechoslovakian frontiers, Austria looks upon some West-East trade as an economic essential. But it astounds the Viennese that we in far-off America, fighting communism in Vietnam and elsewhere, should fall into this trap.

Trade gives aid. When we help a Communist form of government, we undermine the security of the United States.

The chief of our State Department security forces, in turn, charged with protecting our embassies and consulates abroad, tells me here that his group finds our Budapest and Prague embassies the most heavily "bugged," infiltrated and molested of any we maintain behind the Iron Curtain. For example, when a microphone was unearthed recently in the ambassador's office and three more in his Budapest residence, the embassy did not even protest it, this was so usual.

All U.S. embassies by necessity employ a country's nationals as subordinate clerks, translators, chauffeurs, etc. In Hungary, we are required to have these assigned to us only by the Communist Party employment headquarters.

Even so, the secret police constantly harass them. One after another they disappear from their U.S. embassy jobs. Recruiting their replacements is an endless and tragic embassy problem. "If you have worked for the Americans, a mark is put on you," replacements confide when embassy officials try to obtain them.

COURIERS HARASSED

As one result, American charge Frank Behan reports from Budapest, our installation is hopelessly understaffed. Moreover, Mehans states, even our diplomatic pouch couriers are repeatedly delayed and harassed at the Budapest airport and our embassy's importation of needed equipment, including new cable coding machines, is made nearly impossible.

In contrast, grafting Red officials have a deal with several Austrian automobile dealers here. These dealers are bootlegging into Hungary about 200 American cars a year, brazenly listed on the bills of lading, when driven across the frontier, as "gift packages." The grafting Budapest nabobs instruct the custom guards to wink at this and let the cars pass.

Without such graft, the Communist red tape usually bogs down everything. Yet the Reds can act fast when they want to: Witness the all but instantaneous official blackball of this writer by the Hungarian embassy here literally within minutes after his passport was presented for an entrance visa.

Wisconsin Report
Will Any Candidate
Run on Resolutions
Of Demo Convention?

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
MADISON — That the somewhat awkwardly named New Democratic Coalition has taken over the Democratic campaign organization of the state cannot be doubted after the state convention of the voluntary party machine at Stevens Point last weekend.

That the convention and its declarations were truly representative of the Democratic voting rank and file, however, is open to some reasonable doubt.

There can be little doubt that the average man and woman of Wisconsin has become weary, discouraged and frustrated about the seemingly interminable war in Vietnam. To thousands of them the unqualified demand of the convention that the United States withdraw its forces immediately and unconditionally may strike a responsive chord.

There is also a considerable reserve about the governparty organization and especially the voluntary organizations that control party affairs in Wisconsin are more aggressive on ideological matters than are the rank and file voters of the party, on the one hand, and the elected representatives in public office, on the other.

The rule has been repeatedly demonstrated in Republican politics, where delegates tend to be more conservative than the officials who represent them in high governmental places. This year the Democrats evidently proved the rule for their side, on a number of other questions of less dramatic interest than the question of national defense and Vietnam policy.

Is it likely, given the ethnic base of the Democratic vote in Wisconsin, that the nominee for governor, or any considerable number of nominees for the legislature next year, will campaign for liberalized abortion legislation, for example, or for the free dissemination of birth control information and contraceptives?

QUESTION BEER FA-VORITISM

Is it likely that the convention's refusal to endorse a rise in the state tax on beer will be appreciated by those increasing numbers of critics who wonder about what they call the strangely favored position of that commodity?

Is the knee jerk opposition in another resolution to the state sales tax a realistic attitude in the analysis of the independent voter at a time of serious state financial crisis?

Would the Democrats next year campaign for the prohibitively high income tax rates that would result if they succeed in upsetting the plan for a balanced revenue program, including an extension of the sales tax, now before the legislature?

These and many other questions arise in an appraisal of the events at the Stevens Point Democratic rally.

WERE BETTER ORGANIZED

What happened is that the New Democratic Coalition did a better job of organizing and controlling the local delegations than many of the Democratic regulars had known or believed possible. To these men and women ideology is the important thing.

One of the Wisconsin managers of the Eugene McCarthy campaign of last year came close to saying, indeed, that he would rather be right, as he sees right, than win the elections.

Given also the near certainty of a bloody primary fight for governor next year, the Democratic outlook may not be as cheerful as could be expected in view of the Republican troubles at Madison.

Strictly Personal
Sexual Permissiveness
Kills Off Dirty Jokes

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS
A colleague in the news room sent me a brief inter-office memo not long ago: "The dirty joke has all but disappeared. I seldom hear one. Two years ago, I encountered a couple a week, maybe more. I still meet the same guys with the same frequency. Now, no jokes."

This has been my experience, too, and I am glad. Not because I object to dirty jokes per se, but because not one in a hundred was truly funny — but you felt you had to laugh (at least weakly) to demonstrate your virility and good fellowship.

I think the rapid increase in sexual permissiveness in the U.S. the last few years has killed off the dirty joke. A dirty joke is basically a "reaction-formation" to sexual repressiveness in a society; it is not a normal outlet for humor.

Many societies have not had any dirty jokes, and would not understand or appreciate them — not because these cultures are puritanical, but quite the opposite, because they are permissive in the area of sex, and find it incomprehensible that we smirk and snigger about a subject that to them is as simple and natural and obvious as breathing.

It is no accident that in Denmark last year, when all censorship of pornographic material was lifted, sales of pornographic literature on newsstands dropped almost to the vanishing point.

In his recent book, "Rationality of the Dirty Joke," G.

Legman points out that "the almost total prohibitiveness of our culture toward the three primary impulses of the newborn and growing child — the oral, anal and genital, in that order — contrasts worse than almost anything else about us with the total permissiveness, in regard to these same impulses in children, in more advanced societies, such as the natives of Okinawa."

It may sound strange to our ears to hear Okinawa cited as a "more advanced" country than ours, but it is part of our national pride and prejudice to believe that because we have attained the highest level of technical and material accomplishment in the world, that therefore we are similarly superior in our social, ethical and sexual attitudes.

A joke is generally a form of anxiety-release, and sometimes it is a useful and necessary form, as when soldiers jest before battle. But the dirty joke indicates the amount of repressed anxiety about sex in our society; it is a mark of psychic slavery, not of freedom.

Our shifting sexual standards will no doubt drift too far into laxity before they are corrected, but I believe the general tendency is a healthy one, and that out of the chaos and confusion there will come a more realistic and more humane conception of sexuality in our society than we have yet permitted ourselves to imagine — except through the distorted and distorting medium of the dirty joke.

King Eavesdrop Ordered by RFK Personally: Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon says he "checked personally" and found that Robert F. Kennedy as attorney general did authorize FBI wiretapping of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s telephone.

Nixon interjected himself into the growing dispute over the tapping of the slain civil rights leader's phone at his Thursday news conference when he came down in support of FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, who claims Kennedy not only authorized the King surveillance, but originated the idea.

But the two men who succeeded Kennedy as attorney general accused Hoover and the FBI of making unfair attacks on the two slain men.

New Dimensions
The controversy over the wiretapping took on a new dimension when The Washington Evening Star reported in a copy-right story Thursday that Hoover had disclosed contents of two memorandums, one saying Kennedy had expressed concern about reports that King was a student of Marxism and was associating with a New York man with known Communist connections.

Courtney Evans, then assistant director for the FBI and liaison man with the Justice Department, wrote the memorandum to Hoover in June 1963, The Star said. According to the article, Evans reported the substance of a conversation in which Kennedy expressed concern about possible infiltration of the civil rights movement by Marxists, and asked about the feasibility of installing electronic devices on King's telephones.

Political Repercussions
Hoover was quoted by the Star as saying FBI officials at that time advised against electronic surveillance of King because of possible political repercussions.

The FBI later informed Kennedy it would be feasible to tap

King's telephones at the headquarters of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference in Atlanta, Ga., and at a New York location. The Star said noting on this memorandum to Kennedy indicated it had been signed by the attorney general Oct. 10, 1963, and this was cited by Hoover as authorization for the wiretapping.

Nixon told a nationally televised news conference that he "checked personally into the matter as to whether or not that surveillance which had been discussed had been conducted by him (Hoover) and the FBI, by themselves, or whether it had been, as is supposed to be the case, always approved by the attorney general.

Always Approved
"I found that it had always been approved by the attorney general, as Mr. Hoover testified in 1964 and 1965," Nixon continued. "As far as this administration is concerned, our attitude toward electronic surveillance is that it should be used very sparingly, very carefully, having in mind the right of those who might be involved, but very effectively to protect the internal and external security of the United States."

As Nixon was backing Hoover, former attorneys general Ramsey Clark and Nicholas Katzenbach issued statements criticizing the FBI for saying the wiretap idea originated in Kennedy's office.

"Mr. Hoover's statement that Robert F. Kennedy proposed the FBI wiretapping of Dr. Martin Luther King is unfair and deceptive," Clark said. "It is unfair because it comes after Robert Kennedy and Martin Luther King have been murdered in the service of humanity and are unable to defend themselves. The truth of the matter cannot be derived through release of selected materials from FBI files."

Deceptive Picture
Clark said it also is deceptive to depict Hoover as a reluctant eavesdropper.

"He repeatedly requested me to authorize FBI wiretaps on Dr. King while I was attorney general," Clark continued. "The last of these requests, none of which was granted, came two days before the murder of Dr. King."

Katzenbach, who took over as attorney general after Kennedy, said it already has been conceded that the attorney general authorized the wiretapping of King.

Rhodesia Votes On Total Split From Britain

New Constitution Also Will be Decided By White Minority

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Rhodesians began voting today on a final break with Britain and constitutional changes that would entrench white supremacy into the middle of the next century. The predominantly white electorate was expected to say "yes" to both.

Long lines at many polling places augured a heavy turnout of Rhodesia's 90,000 eligible voters, of whom 10,000 are non-whites. The ruling Rhodesian Front party forecast a solid yes vote in the two-question referendum—one on the new constitution and the other on whether this African country should become the world's newest republic.

Party Secretary Rodney Simmonds said it was a choice between "the permanent entrenchment of white civilization in Rhodesia or rapid acceleration to irresponsible African majority rule."

This country, rich in minerals, tobacco and grain crops, is almost as big as California. It has 4.4 million Africans and about 237,000 whites.

Prime Minister Ian Smith's government is expected to get a heavier plurality on the republic question—70 per cent or better—than on the new constitution.

The latter would eliminate franchise on merit and substitute a tribally divided vote for blacks based on how much they pay in taxes.

Besides elimination of African vote power into the 21st century the constitution would give the government stiff new police controls without the need to go to Parliament to proclaim a state of emergency.

The former self-governing British colony broke away from the crown on Nov. 11, 1966, when Smith announced Rhodesia's independence. Negotiations with London to legalize Rhodesia's independence foundered because Britain insisted on guarantees for ultimate African majority rule.

We don't have to start from scratch each year.

We've been making the same basic VW for so long now, you'd think we'd be bored with the whole thing. But the fact is, we're still learning.

For no matter how perfect we think one year's model is, there's always an engineer who wants to make it more perfect.

You see, at the Volkswagen factory we spend 100% of our time making our car work better and 0% making it look better. Any change is an improvement.

And when we do make new parts we try to make them fit older models. So there's nothing to stop a Volkswagen from running forever.

Starting from scratch each year can get in the way of all that.

Just when they've ironed out the kinks in the current model, they have to face the kinks in the next.

We'll never understand all the hoopla over the "big changes" for next year's models.

Weren't they proud of this year's?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Richard M. Nixon, home from her first solo tour as First Lady, is planning trips to college campuses this fall to accent the "positive side" of what students are doing.

She said Thursday she wants to focus attention on volunteer social work being done by students.

Despite the campus demonstrations, Mrs. Nixon said the present generation of college students is "terrifically idealistic" and "more of them than we know" are working on community projects, helping in needy neighborhoods and tutoring the underprivileged.

"Students really want people to get their ideas, give them recognition and encouragement," said the First Lady.

"We Are Doing"
"That's not only what I'm going to do—it's what Dick's doing," she said, referring to the President's recent discussions on the draft with students whose advice he was seeking.

Mrs. Nixon displayed a keen, warm interest in the efforts of volunteers, young and old, on her trip to ten citizen projects in Oregon and California this week. She said she "learned a great deal" and wants to continue these travels.

Contact Bureaus
One of her stops was at a Volunteer Bureau in Los Angeles that serves as a clearing house recruiting hundreds of volunteers each month for 400 local agencies.

There are 187 such bureaus in the country, Mrs. Nixon reported. Citizens who want to work in worthwhile causes could start by contacting these bureaus and find out where help is needed in their communities, she suggested.

When she mentioned her plans for campus visits, Mrs. Nixon was asked whether she was afraid she might run into demonstrations there.

"I'm not afraid of anything," the 57-year-old, slender blonde wife of the President declared.

She said she didn't think she'd be involved in them, though, because she was not going to colleges "on a political trip."

Mild Demonstration
As for the mild anti-war demonstrations she encountered, staged by a small group of young people at one of her stops in Portland, Mrs. Nixon said she didn't have any reaction to it.

"I was doing what I could and if that was the best they could do—that's sad," she said.

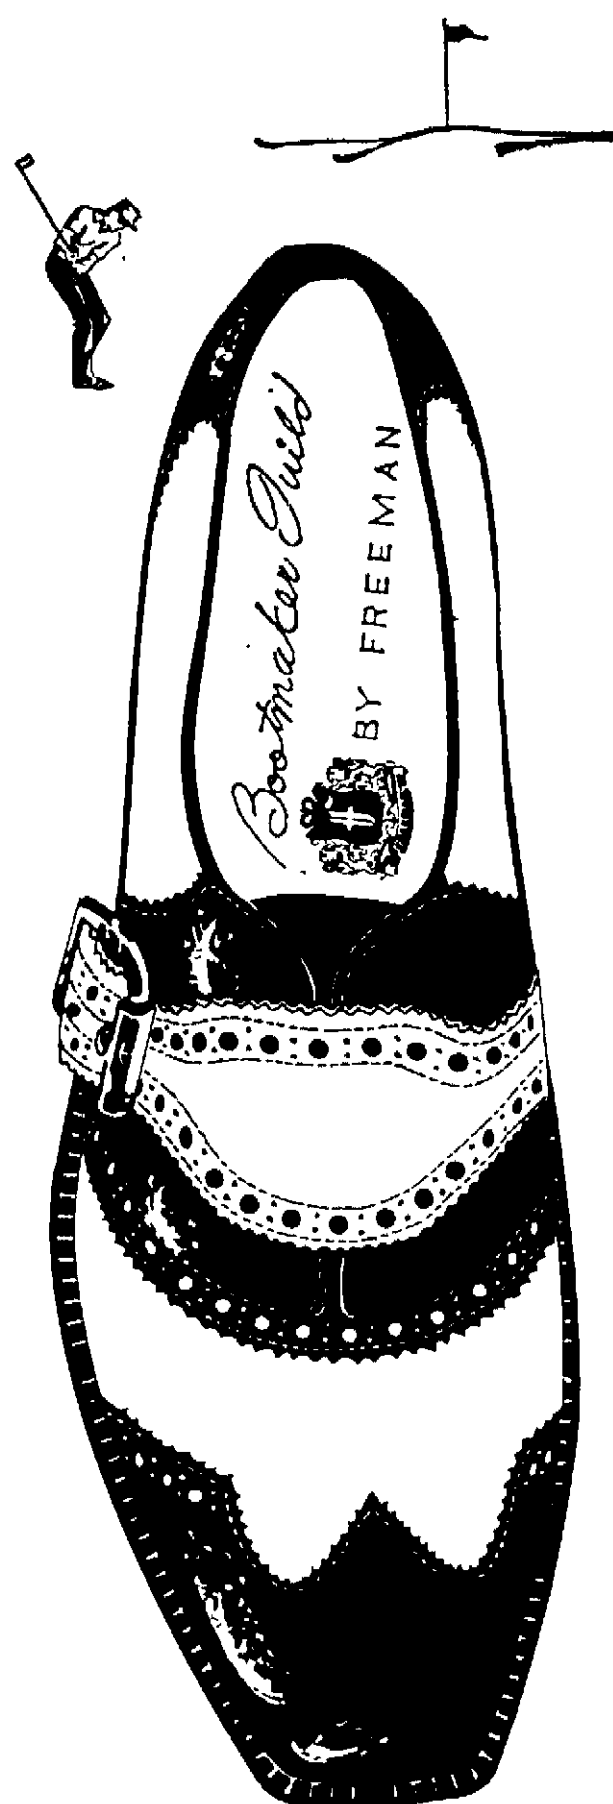

Mrs. Nixon traveled over 5,000 miles in four days on the first such trip she has ever taken on her own in more than 20 years as a political wife.

When asked if she came home exhausted, Mrs. Nixon stoutly maintained

"No. I never get exhausted."

The Hoover Handivac more than just another dust collector

It's the compact 6½ lb. answer to all your cleaning needs. Combination nozzle picks up the heaviest dirt from rugs and bare floors. The modern design goes under the lowest furniture. A dual filter system completely removes all dirt and puts it in the big, easy-to-change, throw away dust bag. With its low cost optional accessories, the Handivac cleans walls, woodwork, drapes, and upholstery. And it hangs in the closet like a broom when you're finished. It's at T.I., where you can clean up on our low price. You can charge it, too.

Lesson in English

BY W. L. GORDON

Words often misused: Do not say, "He cannot help but see it." Say, "He cannot help SEEING it."

Often mispronounced: Evidently Accent FIRST syllable, not the third as often heard

Often misspelled: Despair, observe the "des" Disparage, "dis"

Synonyms: Execrable, detestable, loathsome, accursed, villainous, diabolical, hateful, abominable

Word study: "Use a word three times and it is yours" Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day

Today's word EXOTER-IC, external, exterior, suitable to be imparted to the public, hence readily comprehensible (Pronounce eck-so-ter-ick, accent first syllable). "His exoteric doctrines were revolutionary in their import"

If there are 6 horses entered in a certain race, can you determine in how many different ways these 6 horses could finish first, second, and third—assuming that there are no ties?

Answer
They can finish one, two, three in 120 ways. For each horse that finishes first, there are 5 other horses that can finish second, and for each of these one-two combinations, there are 4 other horses than can finish third. Multiply 6 by 5 by 4.
